Pure Air Service AZ in Scottsdale, Arizona has announced a new range of services for area clients. The company recently announced that they are now providing air duct cleaning and dryer vent cleaning for area customers. Pure Air Service AZ serves Scottsdale, as well as Paradise Valley, Fountain Hills, Arcadia and Tempe, Arizona. More information on their service areas can be seen at <https://pureair-service.org/>.

Elad Aroshas, a representative for the company says, "Your ducts can collect dust over time. It is important that you regularly have this dust removed in order to keep your home safe and to clean the air in your home."

Aroshas says that on average, a home's air duct can collect more than 40 pounds of dust every year, along with allergens and mold. Air duct cleaning is important to ensure that the air one's family is breathing is clean and safe. Aroshas says that those living in Arizona have higher risk of collecting dust and other allergens in their air ducts, particularly due to the dust storms that are common in the state. He says that a regular cleaning, at least once each year, is important for all homes in the area.

Air ducts are the ducts that allow heating and cooling into a home through the air conditioning and heating unit. These ducts are very susceptible to dust and mold and these pollutants can cause breathing issues even in those that do not typically suffer from allergies and other issues. Aroshas says that more about the makeup of the air duct system in the home can be seen at <https://pureair-service.org/air-duct-cleaning-service-arizona/>.

“Not only do you need to keep your air ducts clean,” says Aroshas. “You also need to ensure that your dryer vents are clear of lint and other debris. There have been many homes that have gone up in flames because their dryer vents have become backed up with lint. This is a dangerous scenario and one that can easily be avoided when you regularly clean out those dryer vents.”

Aroshas says that the company offers a number of methods of cleaning air ducts and dryer vents. He says that their vacuum method will effectively pull out any debris from the ducts or vents. The company also uses a deep cleaning brush that helps to remove debris in ducts that may be mixed with moisture and built up on the inside walls of the ducts. He states that this buildup, which is quite common in areas of high moisture, can be a prime growing spot for mold, mildew and bacteria and that it should be removed regularly. The company states that their deep cleaning brush perfectly breaks up and removes this debris to get the ducts as clean as possible.

Aroshas states that the company uses a 4X4 HEPA filtration vacuum system in order to effectively remove dust and debris from air ducts. He states that this device is capable of removing large amounts of dust, which is trapped in the unit and prevented from re-escaping into the duct. In addition, he states that the company uses an air duct sanitizer after their deep cleaning which helps to remove odors and stop the regrowth of bacteria, mold and mildew. Aroshas says that this sanitizer is specially formulated for use in homes and leaves no toxic odor or residue. It is safe to use inside homes and EPA registered.

Aroshas states that those living in the company’s service areas can call on them to have their duct work inspected and checked for mold, dust and other debris. He states that having those air ducts cleaned and having dryer vents checked and cleaned regularly is important for the overall health and safety of everyone living in the home. The company states that they are pleased to be providing these new services for their Scottsdale customers and states that those who would like to learn more can visit them online at <https://pureair-service.org/dryer-vent-cleaning-service-arizona/> for a complete list of their current services and service areas.
