Aroma Outfitters has announced the launch of a new product on the Amazon marketplace. The company recently released their new 30 bottle essential oil case that is hard sided and helps to protect essential oils while traveling.

Charity DeVries, a representative for the company says, "This is the best travel case you will ever own. If you use essential oils and you need a way to take them with you without worries of the bottles breaking, this case is perfect. You can also simply use it to store your essential oils. It takes up very little space and has a place for so many oils."

DeVries says that the case is now available on Amazon as well as on the company's official website. She states that as therapeutic grade essential oils are costly, the company wanted to provide customers with a way to travel with those oils without worries of spilling and breaking. She states that the hard sided case helps to protect customers' investments by keeping those bottles of oils perfectly safe.

DeVries says that the company's new essential oil carrying case features an elegant design and that it fits bottles of essential oils from all of the major suppliers and popular brands. She states that the case is constructed of protective EVA and canvas material which makes it easy to clean and that it offers the perfect solution for massage therapists and others who travel with essential oils on short or long trips. The case holds up to 30 full sized bottles of essential oils.

The company states that the case is perfect for keeping essential oils organized and easy to grab when needed. DeVries says that the company offers a complete satisfaction guarantee on this and all of their products.

“We believe in our products so much that we guarantee you will love them,” DeVries states. “We know that this case is going to help you to keep your essential oils organized and safe and we invite you to read through the reviews from other customers on this and all of our products.”

DeVries says that the case offers the perfect essential oils storage due to its roomy and protective design. She states that the product can be viewed on the Amazon marketplace, along with reviews from customers that have already purchased it, or those interested can also see it on the Aroma Outfitters’ official website.

Aroma Outfitters is a family owned and operated business. The company states that their goal is to provide customers with the best in essential oils accessories and their current products include storage and travel cases, bags and boxes for those who use essential oils. The company states that every product they sell comes with a lifetime warranty against any defects in workmanship or materials. DeVries says that their main goal is to offer customers solutions to making their essential oils easier to use.

Essential oil use has gained in popularity over the past few years. Many companies today sell these oils and many consumers have learned different ways of using them. Consumers rave about essential oils and their effects on various illnesses and other uses. DeVries says that it is very common for consumers to purchase essential oils today, given the rise in the number of companies that sell oils today. She says that consumers or professionals who are really serious about their essential oils should take a look at the new carrying case as it provides a protective storage solution for those oils as well as a travel solution for those who like to take their oils along with them when they travel.

Those who are interested in seeing the new essential oils travel case or any of the products that are offered by Aroma Outfitters can do so on the company’s official website. Their Amazon marketplace seller’s page also offers a number of their products as well as customer reviews on those products.
