Yarden Cohen, spokesperson for Air Duct Cleaners Glendale AZ, says, "While HVAC and duct cleaning often seem confusing we aim to keep it simple for you. That's why we adhere to a straightforward and thorough 4-step process for cleaning air ducts and dryer vents. Our cleaning process reduces the amount of dust, debris, and harmful air pollutants in your home. Ultimately, ensuring the air you breathe is cleaner and safer for you and your family."

Air Duct Cleaners Glendale AZ focuses on indoor air quality by offering cleaning solutions to purify the air in the home or business. The company has developed a four-step process for cleaning HVAC systems. According to the spokesperson, their services are designed to thoroughly get rid of dust, mold, and other potentially harmful pollutants. Furthermore, the company offers fresh, clean indoor air while reducing costs for the homeowner or building owner.

Another key service provided by Air Duct Cleaners Glendale AZ aside from air duct cleaning is dryer vent cleaning. This service gets rid of the buildup that resulted from lint escaping through the lint trap. The buildup of lint in the duct can result in a narrower passage for hot air outwards. This buildup of lint reduces the efficiency of the drying operation, lengthens drying time, and increases energy costs. It can even become a fire hazard. More information about the dryer vent cleaning service can be found at <http://airductcleanersglendaleaz.com/dryer-vent-cleaning-glendale-az/>.

The company also has a team of floor care experts that provide high quality tile and carpet cleaning. Ensuring that the floor and carpets are clean is also essential because having a dirty floor or carpet can cause pollutants to get into the air that is circulating inside the home.

Air Duct Cleaners Glendale AZ also has teams that can save and/or restore the home in case of flood, fire, or some other kind of natural disaster. Their 30-minute response teams are on standby around the clock so as to be able to respond quickly when the homeowner requires immediate water extraction to save the home from flood or a water leak. Furthermore, they can also provide smoke and fire damage restoration.

And then there is the threat from mold when a property has been water damaged or neglected. Mold can be a health risk for the people who are living in that particular home. For this, Air Duct Cleaners Glendale AZ is a certified provider of mold removal services. Wherever there is mold, the company has the equipment and training required to locate the mold and get rid of it.

Air Duct Cleaners Glendale AZ offers professional air duct cleaning and dryer vent cleaning services. Their mission is to help in decreasing indoor air pollutants and in enhancing indoor air quality. Their experienced teams provide various services, such as air duct cleaning, dryer vent cleaning, carpet cleaning, and tile or grout cleaning. They have served thousands of customers across the entire Phoenix Metro area since 2006 and they provide their services to homes in Glendale, Peoria, Avondale, and Goodyear.

The spokesperson points out that the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has listed air pollution as the top five environmental health risk. Thus, their services are designed to mitigate indoor air pollutants. When the air ducts of the HVAC system are properly cleaned, there would be less dust, debris and other harmful air pollutants in the home. Meanwhile, carpet cleaning will get rid of most of the dust that have been trapped in the fibers of the carpet.
