August 04, 2015 -

Peak One Builders & Restoration, of Scottsdale, AZ, has recently started offering a brand new service for those looking to build a custom home in North Scottsdale. Peak One Builders is offering a fully customized experience that no other builder can match for those who want to purchase a plot of land in Scottsdale and build a custom home on that plot of land. The available lots offered by Peak One are in a secluded area of North Scottsdale.

"This service truly is very special," says Michael Christensen from Peak One Builders & Restoration, who also happens to be retired military veteran who served over 20 years. "We are one of the best known general contractors in Scottsdale, Arizona, something that we pride ourselves on tremendously."

Peak One has partnered with Jared Allen's Homes For Wounded Warriors foundation. They are the preferred general contractor for the foundation and they have already delivered numerous services through the greater Phoenix, AZ, area including Corey Remsburg of Gilbert AZ who was Michelle Obama's personal guest at the 2014 State of the Union Address at the nation's capital. In working with this foundation, Peak One believes they are giving back to the community as much as possible.

The Peak One Builders Land and Build Packages are proving to be incredibly popular. Essentially, potential land and home owners view the available lot(s) with a representative of Peak One, where they will be given an opportunity to see what the area looks like, what the views are, what traffic is like and more. If they decide to move ahead, the client will work together with Peak One to determine what the new home will look like and how it should be positioned in order to maintain privacy without compromising on views. A design will then be created that will fit within the budget of the client.

"We want to help people to build the home of their dreams here in Scottsdale," adds Mike Christensen. "We work hand in hand with our clients from concept to design to construction. We also pride ourselves on our quick methods of working. Construction documents will be submitted in no more than 60 days and we usually receive permits within six to eight weeks. Essentially, the entire process for an average 3,500 square foot property is around seven months."

People are encouraged to get more information at this web address: http://peakonebuilders.com/buy-land-and-build-custom-home/. The offer to build a custom home in Scottsdale is proving to be hugely popular and one of the strengths of the plot is that it is located in such a secluded area of North Scottsdale.
