Laird & Son Heating & Air Conditioning, an HVAC services firm based in Toronto, Ontario, has announced that they have contributed to two blog posts regarding furnace services. One post is found on the Shine Home website and is titled, "7 Pointers for Finding Top-rated Furnace Services In Your City!" The other post is found on the Sweet House Studio site and is titled, "Here's Why You Need a Furnace Service for Heating Maintenance."

Ron Potter from Laird & Son Heating & Air Conditioning says, "We're happy to announce that we have contributed to two articles about furnace services. One article provides some pointers on how to find the best furnace services while the other article explains why it is essential to have a furnace service for heating maintenance."

In the article on how to choose a top-rated furnace service, several pointers are provided. These include asking around for recommendations; checking the response time of various furnace repair companies; making sure that the company is licensed; making sure that the repairmen and engineers are bonded, insured, and trained; checking if they have positive reviews; asking if they would provide client references; and making sure that they provide estimates.

Meanwhile, Laird & Son Heating & Air Conditioning can boast of having received several positive reviews from past clients. For instance, Heidi G gave them a five star rating and said, "A couple of weeks ago, while looking for a furnace service company, we found Laird & Son. Our appointment was made for 08:00 a.m. and the technician (Dan Voore) showed up precisely on time, introduced himself, and went right to work servicing our furnace and humidifier. Upon completion, he made a couple of recommendations and explained (in plain English) what he had done and what he saw while working on our system. Laird & Son's service call was - friendly, clean, punctual, informative and reasonably priced. We thank Dan for the great work and would highly recommend him to our friends and family."

For furnaces, Laird & Son offers various services, such as furnace repair, furnace installation, furnace replacement, furnace oil delivery, and oil to gas conversion and tank removal. For air conditioning, they offer standard air conditioner repair, installation and repair of ductless air conditioning units, and installation and repair of attic air conditioning systems.

Laird & Son also provides installation and repair services for mid-efficiency and high efficiency boilers in Toronto. Furthermore, they also provide installation and repair services for tankless water heaters. They focus on high efficiency tankless water heaters that can save people about 30 percent compared to the usual tankless water heaters.

Still another important service that they provide is duct cleaning. This is to ensure that the air circulating in the home or building is clean and free from contaminants. For this, Laird & Son makes use of leading edge truck-mounted and truck-powered equipment. The instruments used are power take off (PTO) driven, which means that the power comes from the transmission of the truck. If more power is required, the RPM or idle speed of the motor is increased. The truck is provided with 15 air filter bags, and the impurities are filtered out after the fan so that no suction is lost even as the air filter bags get filled with dust and particles.

Laird & Son Heating & Air Conditioning is a family owned and operated company that has served the Greater Toronto Area for more than 70 years. With that experience and their dedication to quality, they have come to be known as one of the top HVAC companies in Toronto. Nevertheless, they continue to improve their services and their systems to make sure that they are able to provide the best.

Those who need more information about the various HVAC services offered by Laird & Son Heating & Air Conditioning can visit their website or contact them by phone. They expect to make another contribution to a post regarding furnaces and HVAC systems in the near future.
