Sarnia Living, an online magazine for Sarnia, Ontario, has announced that they have made available a Restaurant Guide on their website. This guide on the best restaurants in Sarnia is designed to provide both locals and visitors with an idea of their choices for the best food and beverage in the area.

Ryan Powell, the editor in chief, says, "The Sarnia Living Restaurant Guide is not intended to highlight the absolute best Sarnia restaurants, but rather the ones that are most vital to Sarnia right now. It provides options for affordable and interesting dining experiences that locals think are particularly great, and why. From a cool sushi bar to one of the busiest Indian restaurants, there's also market grub and bowling; we've got a list for locals or visitors in the area to help you decide what to eat and when."

Ryan explains the qualities that a restaurant in Sarnia must have in order to be considered one of "the best" in town. First of all, food is of primary importance. Then there is the ambiance of the restaurant and the level of service. Furthermore, there should be a great wine list, quality beers, and excellent cocktails. And finally, there should be qualitative factors of personality, imagination, and consistency.

The Sarnia Living post about the top restaurants in Sarnia also explained that while the restaurant review for the city that is provided is not the most comprehensive, it is the most honest. The result of the review is a list of 15 restaurants with a wide variety, ranging from seafood to Southern barbecue, Japanese to Indian cuisine. And in order to organize and rank the restaurants, they surveyed several local foodies.

It is also pointed out that determining the best restaurants in Sarnia has become more difficult because of the growing number of options for dining in the city. It is noted that the number of excellent culinary choices has been growing with several chefs deciding to establish their own restaurants.

It is also noted that there are actually more than 150 restaurants listed on Tripadvisor but the list includes fast-casual chains, fast food restaurants, highway bowling, eateries with good food, and a pad thai market location. By eliminating such choices, some 35 restaurants were left, which are the kinds of places that enthusiastic patrons frequently go to.

The article also advises restaurant owners in Sarnia that they need to stand out. If they provide good service and food but this is quite similar to other establishments nearby, there is a strong possibility that many customers will not notice them. Unique features need to be provided in order to set a restaurant apart from others. For instance, the restaurant can make itself notable by always using fresh ingredients from the local market. Or the restaurant may be the only one with a great view in a particular vicinity.

The best way to be distinguished from other restaurants is, of course, by serving high-quality food. This has been observed in the top restaurants. Serving top quality food at relatively low prices would certainly make customers remember a particular restaurant.

Then there is the factor of good business management. This ensures that food and customer service are always top quality while still earning a good profit for the business. Good profit ensures that the restaurant will continue to provide good food and services. And managing the establishment professionally includes keeping up-to-date records and complying with all regulatory requirements like taxes and health inspections. Good management also means paying vendors and suppliers promptly and correctly as this will assure a consistent supply of ingredients and other needed items.

Meanwhile, the Sarnia Living website also provides a guide on the fine dining choices available in the city. These include steak and fine dining, French fine dining, and American fine dining and cocktail bars.

The Sarnia Living magazine provides a wide range information with regards to living in the city. These are classified into several categories such as the news, business, tourism, entertainment, press, historical, local services, local businesses, and professional services.
