Casey Ryeback of Senior Care Center is happy to announce that they are now provided help and advice to seniors who are in need of healthcare in California. With the rising costs of health care, in general, it is becoming more difficult for senior citizens to cover their medical costs with the money they have saved. This can be even more troubling for their families, who will likely share this burden. Senior Care Center is happy to help provide relief for these worries.

When approached about this announcement, Casey Ryeback had this comment to share, "Unfortunately, the cost of medical care is rising, and we don't really see an end to this trend any time soon. Our senior citizens paid into Social Security and into their retirement funds, but the value of money is not the same as it was when they made their investments. As a result, many elderly patients can't afford their healthcare needs, especially if healthcare assistance is required around the clock. At Senior Care Center, our aim is to give seniors the help they need so that they can live the life they deserve."

Senior Care Center provides a variety of services including assisted living, Alzheimer's care, residential home care, and even simply advice. To see the many services offered, visit them online here:

Richard Beckworth, a senior citizen living in Seattle, shared this review about his experience with Senior Care Center, "At my age, I needed affordable housing for one person and I didn't want to be a burden on my family. Senior Care Center was able to help me find an independent living facility where I could still feel like I was doing things on my own. I am very grateful for their help and have recommended them to my friends looking for any kind of help with living or healthcare."

Due to an increase in the aging population and an increase in chronic illness, the rise in insurance premiums and healthcare costs was inevitable. Nancy S., a Denver resident, simply needed advice about what she should do regarding her finances for living and healthcare. Senior Care Center provided this service and Nancy shared this review, "They were really so helpful. I wasn't sure if I wanted to live in a senior facility yet as I didn't feel like I needed it yet. I had an image in my mind of being stuck in my room at all hours or watching TV in a community room. It didn't sound like the life I was ready for. Senior Care Center helped me by discussing the costs associated with living facilities and also the planning of my finances. They also set me up with a few tours so that I could see what other seniors are experiencing. I was impressed with the facilities I toured and I even think I'll be ready for this change sooner than I would have expected."

The news website, Digital Journal, recently published an article tackling the topic of rising assisted living costs for seniors in California. In this article, they explain what unexpected costs seniors can expect to incur and how this can be stressful for both the senior citizen and their family. Additionally, they explain how Senior Care Center can help with the planning of these costs and additionally help with the process of finding the right living facility. For some families, this reality can be just as stressful as the costs and Senior Care Center aims to relieve these stresses.
