July 02, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Rapid Crush, Inc., an industry leader in software solutions in Valencia, CA, have today released a new and completely free report on eProduct creation secrets. Essentially, the create your own products in 2 hours or less report does exactly what it says on the box: it allows people to create their own products. The difference, however, is that the products in question are pieces of information, rather than physical products. The company hopes that by following the hints and tips in the report, more people will be able to become successful online entrepreneurs.

"Who doesn't want to work for themselves and earn enough money to actually achieve financial independence?" says John S. Rhodes from Rapid Crush, Inc. "That is exactly what our report can teach people to do. In less than two hours, without any prior experience or proof, anyone should be able to create information products. And we believe information products offer the roads to riches in today's world."

Information products are essentially pieces of information that people are looking for. Once upon a time, when people wanted information, they had very limited sources available to them. A trip to the library would be required, something that most people who are no longer in school simply do not have the time for anymore. This all changed with the advent of the internet, however.

"Essentially, the internet is one huge library that is open 24/7, 365 days a year and one where you don't even have to be quiet," adds John S. Rhodes. "There is a little bit of what can be called 'information overload' going on, with people looking up information simply because they can. On an economic level, which is all about supply and demand, this means that demand for information is there. What our program teaches people is how to be the supplier of that information. Essentially, we want to help you with starting your own online business."

Rapid Crush, Inc. aims to offer customers a top quality service. While the report is completely free, they are always ready to answer any questions anyone may have. Indeed, excellent customer service lies at the heart of everything that they do. Finally, they focus strongly on integrity. For them, making money is a wonderful thing, but building proper relationships with their clients and customers, essentially putting people before profits is far more important.

"If you are ready to make money online with your own products, contact us today," adds John S. Rhodes. "Sign up for our free report and see how you can get started in becoming a successful online entrepreneur."

The report is completely free to download from the Rapid Crush, Inc. website and there are no strings attached.
