

CPR Training Nurse Calls On Those Looking For ?CPR Classes Near Me?

December 26, 2018

December 26, 2018 -

CPR Training Nurse, a provider of CPR training classes, has announced the availability of classes in Frisco, Texas, and surrounding areas. Cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) is a lifesaving procedure used during emergencies when the heart has stopped beating. These courses are led by Basic Life Support (BLS) instructors who teach single rescuer and team BLS skills for use in both in-facility and pre-hospital environments, with a focus on team dynamics and high quality CPR.

Jenny Ashley, spokesperson for CPR Training Nurse, says, "For those who are looking for ?CPR classes near me? in Frisco and neighboring areas you need not look further. We are offering CPR and automated external defibrillator (AED) training for both single rescuers and BLS teams. We are open from 9:00 am to 5:00 pm, Monday to Friday.?"

CPR Training Nurse also offers the Heartsaver Pediatric First Aid CPR AED in a video-based, classroom, instructor-led course that teaches students how to respond to and manage illnesses and injuries in an infant or child during the first few minutes until the arrival of professional help.

Jenny says, "CPR Training can make a difference between life and death. Administering CPR helps maintain vital blood flow to the heart and brain until emergency personnel can give advanced care. CPR, when provided immediately, can double the chance of survival."

CPR Training Nurse offers courses for certified instructors in CPR, BLS, AED, bloodborne pathogens and first aid for church nurseries, day care providers, elementary schools, nursery schools, high schools, middle schools, boy and girl scout leaders, and all medical professionals. These tools can make a difference between life and death. The BLS courses from CPR Training Nurse also provide certification and re-certification requirements to medical professionals.

Jenny adds, "Our CPR Training courses provide hands-on instruction to help non-medical rescuers to keep a person's heart pumping until professional assistance arrives. The type of CPR training we provide not only addresses breathing but also choking victims. We urge those who need to find "CPR training near me" to contact us."

CPR Training Nurse has also posted several videos on YouTube to show what their students do during the courses and also actual applications of CPR in the field. For instance, one video shows the students as they role play an emergency and provide CPR to a person who has collapsed. In another set of videos, they show American Heart Association (AHA) instructors performing CPR in an AED Frisco TX Heartsaver CPR course.

Another set of videos show dramatic footage of the use of CPR being used to save lives. In one video, it is showing how CPR was used to save a person who got drowned. He was a 26-year old boy and he was not breathing and considered clinically dead when they started CPR. After a few minutes of CPR, they used a defibrillator and he started breathing again. Nevertheless, he still had to be brought to the hospital because of water in the lungs.

In another video, it is shown how lifeguards saved the life of another drowned man. They didn't know how long he was under the water and they immediately applied a defibrillator and performed CPR. It was only after the third shock from the defibrillator that a response from the patient was noted. There had been no pulse and he was not breathing for about 5 minutes before he was finally revived. It was also learned later on that the patient had a heart attack. Once again this showed how CPR and the use of an AED can save lives.

The founder of CPR Training Nurse had been a nurse aide before she became a nurse. While she was working as a nurse for two doctors, she was able to gain experience in performing various tests for patients, from blood test and x-rays to heart monitoring and stress testing. Later, she worked in home health and that was when she got exposed to CPR and realized how important CPR is in saving lives.
