December 26, 2018

December 26, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Jane Bennett of Ventura Valley Tree Service LLC is happy to announce the launch of their new website. Home and business owners in Ventura, California and the surrounding towns will now have a convenient way to learn more about the business as well as streamlined means for getting the tree servicing process started.

When approached about this announcement, Jane Bennett shared this comment, "Homeowners rarely think about their trees until there is a problem. When said problem arises, they are often left wondering who to call - whether it be a contractor or an arborist. With our new website, we are hoping to answer that question and more in addition to explaining our suite of services regarding trees. We hope that by joining the digital era in a very visible way, that the residents of the Ventura area will know who to call when they need their tree trimmed or removed."

Trees are a wonderful part of every property and ultimately the community. They provide oxygen, shade, a home for wildlife, a source of pollination, and a natural sound barrier. Best of all, they are aesthetically pleasing to the eye if well-maintained. Unfortunately, that typically requires tree service by a professional. Ventura Valley Tree Service offers trimming services for trees of many varieties, including palms.

Rita Hawkes, a Ventura Valley resident, needing tree maintenance on her property and chose Ventura Valley Tree Service for this task. She was happy to share this review afterward, "My husband and I typically take care of the trees ourselves as it is kind of our activity together. Unfortunately this year we have been incredibly busy and unable to manage keeping up with it ourselves. The branches became unsightly after a storm, and quite honestly a hazard. We needed them to be taken care of right away and Ventura Valley Tree Service was happy to help. The customer service over the phone was friendly and the tree technicians worked quickly. It was a major stress-saver for me and my husband."

Ventura Valley Tree Service LLC offers a wide variety of tree services accompanied by exceptional customer service and years of expertise. But they also offer helpful tree facts and advice on their blog through their new website. They simply want to help the residents of the Ventura Valley area to stay informed about the trees on their property and how to properly care for them.

Joey King contacted Ventura Valley Tree Service when an old tree had died and became a hazard to his home. This was his experience, "I can't be grateful enough that Ventura Valley Tree Service came out as quickly as they did. I hadn't realized the tree towering over our home had died until a large branch broke and fell. Thankfully it had landed beside the house, but it suddenly looked like a disaster waiting to happen. The tree removal team came out right away and went straight to work. They worked quickly to remove the tree with extreme care. It felt like they were treating my home as if it were their own. I wouldn't call anyone else for tree services now."

Though tree trimming is a primary service they offer, Ventura Valley Tree Service also offers tree removal, emergency tree removal, and lot clean-up. Of course, they always clean up after any job they do, removing branches, debris, and stump treatment. Additionally, they offer a free estimate for any service they provide.

Rebecca Stone took advantage of Ventura Valley Tree Service's lot clean up services. She shared her thanks in this review, "We decided to do a complete overhaul of trimming, gardening, and weeding all over our lot to spruce it up. Instead of hiring someone to take care of the landscaping, we opted to do it ourselves as a family-building/bonding opportunity. We had a wonderful time with our different landscaping projects, but we had a ton of debris and no efficient way to dispose of it. We called Ventura Valley Tree Service to help us out and the debris was removed by the end of the week. They even found debris on the property we didn't realize we had missed. Great job guys!"
