Central Valley Tree Service LLC has announced that their new company website is now up and running. The company provides tree services for homes and businesses in Stockton, California, and neighboring areas. The company expects that with the brand new website, people would be able to get more information regarding their services and the various developments involving the company.

Louise Jenkins, spokesperson for the tree services firm, says, "We're happy to announce to homeowners and business owners that our new website is now accessible to all. As you well know, trees are a wonderful part of our lives and they can make our properties look wonderful. But there are times when we run into problems with trees and when this occurs you may need tree removal or other tree care service, and a way to remove problem trees from your property. Whenever you have a problem with a tree you can count on our company to help you. Dead trees on your property can pose a serious risk to both you and your family and they can also put your vehicle and your house at risk of damage."

This tree services company for Stockton and surrounding areas focuses on providing professional tree removal services. The company has a team of tree experts who know how to remove trees correctly from the yard. Dead and dying trees need to be removed or else pests will use them as places for their nests. The problem is that this will further weaken the rotting tree which increases the risk of the tree falling down and injuring a person or causing damage to a part of the property.

Another important service provided is tree trimming. With this service, they prune the trees in order to ensure that they are healthy and beautiful to look at. Experts from the company cut off diseased or dead branches as these can cause the disease to spread to other parts of the tree. Also, they will be able to trim the branches in such a way that the overall shape of the tree would make it more attractive. Furthermore, trees could have grown too big such that some branches are touching electric power lines or a side of the house. A strong wind could cause the branch to hit the house, cause damage or hit the electric lines and cause a power outage.

Louise Jenkins hastens to add that homeowners might be tempted to do the trimming themselves because the task may seem to be easy. But this could be very dangerous, especially for very tall trees. Without sufficient knowledge and experience, a person could put unnecessary weight on a weak branch and this could break and fall down. Aside from causing injury or even death to the person who falls down, the falling branch could also injure someone or damage some part of the house.

And then there is the emergency tree removal service. This is often critical after a particularly strong storm. Trees could be destroyed by strong winds and even by lightning. Fallen trees and those burned by lightning need to be removed. These trees are likely to be dead or dying and having a dead tree in the yard is not good because of pests, including termites residing in them. Tree experts also need to be consulted on whether a tree can still survive or if it is already dying. That way, the right decision can be made on whether a particular has to be removed or not.

Louise Jenkins adds, "Call our service in Stockton, California and we will be happy to come and look at your trees. We are a licensed and bonded tree trimming service. We can do all sorts of work such a stump removal, tree trimming, and removal of dead trees from your property so that you and your family have peace of mind. Our business hours are 7:00 am to 5:00 pm, Monday to Saturday."
