

ActiveGear Launches Waist Trimmer For Men And Women

December 31, 2018

December 31, 2018 -

ActiveGear, headquartered in Miami, Florida, has announced a new product on the Amazon marketplace. The fitness company recently launched a new waist trimmer and states that they also provide information on the benefits of a waist trimmer for both men and women.

Angela Hamilton, a representative for the company says, "Not only have we just launched our amazing waist trimmer in four colors and two different sizes, we are also offering a free knee sleeve to customers who order the waist trimmer, for a limited time."

Hamilton states that the waist sauna belt is designed to help protect lower back muscles during workouts. She states that waist trimmers are also beneficial to those who are looking to lose weight by burning belly fat. Studies have shown that increased body heat, which one gets when wearing a waist trimming belt, can be very effective in removing excess water weight during exercise. Waist trimming belts effectively help the body to sweat off excess water from around the tummy area.

Hamilton says that wearing and using a waist trimming belt is as simple as just putting it on before a workout or anytime to help with posture. She states that there are a number of benefits of using this product and that the company has ensured that their waist trimming belt is made of the highest possible quality of materials and offers all of the benefits that customers will want.

?You are definitely going to want to give this a try if you are looking to lose weight in 2019,? says Hamilton. ?And to make it even easier for our customers, we have set it up so that you can claim your instant gift knee sleeve on Facebook chat.?

Hamilton states that the company is available on Facebook to answer any questions or to help customers to learn more of the benefits of their product. She states that the waist trimmer belt is easy to use and helps to keep the back straight during workouts, which provides the additional benefit of lowering the risk of back injuries and pain during weight lifting and other similar activities.

Waist trimming belts provide back support that can also help to improve posture and help with chronic back pain. Hamilton says that wearing one of these belts can provide extra support for normal activities as well, such as sitting at a desk during work. She states that the belt holds the back straight which can reduce pressure on the lower back and help to alleviate back pain from sitting or standing on one position for long periods of time.

She states that the real benefit for those who workout and exercise however, is that the belt can help to eliminate belly fat. She says that in addition, it helps to make one look slimmer by pulling in belly fat and holding it in while one is wearing the belt. Hamilton says that with two sizes and four different colors to choose from, customers will be pleased with their selection and states that the belt can be comfortably worn at any time of the day, for work or for working out.

Many workout enthusiasts today use belts to help support their lower back regions while they are lifting weights and taking on positions that could prove painful otherwise. Hamilton states that the new waist trimmer belt provided by ActiveGear provides all of the benefits that customers would expect, plus a few additional that most would never consider. She states that anyone who would like to get this sweat belt on Amazon can visit the company on their official Amazon marketplace seller?s page to learn more or to order. Those who are interested in learning more about the benefits of wearing the belt can also visit the company on their official website or visit them on any of their social media pages for updates including any new products that they may be launching in the future.
