Friday Harbor, Washington based Meat Machine Cycle is pleased to announce that they are now offering a set of scheduled as well as customized cycling tours on the San Juan Islands.

Meat Machine Cycle is one of the few all-in-one bicycle sales and repair shops in Friday Harbor that offers quality bicycle parts, suspension rebuilds, flat tire changes, and emergency bicycle services. Aside from emphasizing the health benefits of cycling to the community, the company now also expands its services to help promote the local tourism of the San Juan Islands.

"We are pleased to announce that we are now offering cycling tours in the San Juan Islands and the surrounding areas. Our friendly and professional local tour guides have created sets of itineraries that will take you to all of San Juan Island's most iconic locations and tourist hotspots. We offer a fun-filled cycling activity for friends and the whole family," says Seth Cox of Meat Machine Cycle.

According to Cox, their standard tours include stopovers at the Cattle Point, American Camp, and English Camp, where cyclists have the opportunity to see the Alpacas along the way. In addition, cyclists may also visit the only whale watching park at Limn-kiln State Park for a chance of an Orca encounter.

“You can do all these amazing activities in a day or two and fully enjoy the experience. Also, you can get to choose from our three sets of tours depending on your interests. We are currently offering History Tours, Sunset Tours, and Customized Tours for more personalized adventures,” Cox said.

Meat Machine Cycle’s History Tours depart at 8:00 AM from their bike shop towards the notable landmark sites throughout the island. It lasts for approximately 4 hours and covers a total cycling distance of around 20 miles. More importantly, cyclists will be provided with a professional local guide, lunch, snacks and traditional/electric bicycles.

Meanwhile, the Sunset Tours also last for around 4 hours, and also cover a total cycling distance of 20 miles. The itinerary starts at Friday Harbor towards the west side of the island, where cyclists get to watch the sunset while enjoying a sumptuous dinner from one of the local restaurants. The tour package is inclusive of the said dinner, snacks, professional local guide, and traditional/electric bicycles, as well as a complimentary shuttle ride back to Friday Harbor.

Lastly, they also offer Customized Tours where cyclists can set the cycling duration and identify their own places of interests. “If you book a customized tour with us, you have the full freedom of choosing the places you want to go and the local restaurants where you want to eat. We can also help to arrange a more convenient and efficient cycling route based on all your requirements. More importantly, you will be able to enjoy the San Juan Islands at your own pace, depending on your riding abilities,” he added.
