

EDM Now Offers Snow Removal In West, South And North Edmonton Residential Areas

January 02, 2019

January 02, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Alberta based EDM Snow Services - Edmonton is pleased to announce that they are now offering residential property snow removal services in North, West, and South Edmonton. They also offer special rates for senior citizens and Persons With Disabilities (PWDs) who need snow removal assistance in the area.

EDM specializes in commercial and residential snow removal services, including shoveling, sanding, de-icing, snowplowing, and ice-melting. They offer monthly and seasonal plans that are customized to suit both corporate and individual needs. Their services are also available throughout the week to ensure the safety and convenience of their customers.

According to the company's website at <http://www.edmsnow.ca>, individuals and business owners will be able to enjoy convenient monthly pricing, 10% additional discount if the season is fully paid for in advance, quality service with a high level of commitment, unlimited snow shoveling and clearing, and optional salt and sanding provision, upon subscribing to their snow removal services through an easy online application. These perks are currently being offered to home and business owners in Edmonton, as well as the surrounding areas of Sherwood Park, St. Albert, Spruce Grove, Stony Plain, Fort Saskatchewan, Leduc, and Beaumont.

The Canadian winter is known for its severity and unpredictability. Due to this, EDM highlights the importance of hiring an expert snow removal contractor during the winter season.

Home, business, and property owners can avoid hefty fines if they hire a reliable contractor. As snow removal on private properties is required by the law, they can protect themselves from tickets and fines all winter long, safe in the knowledge that a team of professionals is taking care of their snow removal needs. Next, hiring a qualified contractor can prevent injuries from happening, since snow removal experts have had years of experience in ensuring their own safety during their work, even during the worst winter storms. In addition to this, they can accomplish the job faster, given that they have the right equipment to directly address the problem. They also have specialized tools, products, and solutions to quickly and efficiently clear snow build-up. Finally, hiring a professional snow-clearing team is a good investment, especially for business owners, as having a reliable contractor can ensure that businesses will be able to remain open even in the harshest weather, while considering their customers' safety as well.

EDM also warns Canadians to look out for unreliable contractors operating around Edmonton and the neighboring areas. They advise home and business owners to be wary of snow removal service providers who are uncertified and have no insurance, are poorly equipped, offer unsecured ice-melting products, communicate poorly, and have large and infrequent crew members. They encourage customers to do their research on a snow removal company before deciding to sign a contractual agreement. If a company has no basic identification like a website, offers cheap snow removal rates, and is very slow in responding to inquiries, customers are advised to move on and look for another service provider.

Those looking for an expert and professional snow removal contractor may consider EDM Snow Services. They offer reliable snow removal solutions in Edmonton and the neighboring region, and provide potential clients with free quotation and estimates based on the total snow removal service area. Their services include snow plowing, Bobcat snow removal, off-site hauling, shoveling, sanding, salting, ice removal, de-icing and many more. They are also giving back to the community by offering special promotions, and great discounts to the elderly and people living with disabilities. As evidenced by their positive reviews and recommendations online, EDM is regarded as one of the top snow removal service providers in Alberta.

Kevin, in a Facebook review, said, "EDM offers quality pricing and quality service. I thank their team for getting me set up and ready this winter season."

"We would like to thank EDM for keeping everything so easy and convenient. It was very simple to set up a snow removal service with them. We have been using their services for our personal home and rental property, and both driveways always look great," says Mike S.

Those who would like to find out more about EDM's services may visit their website for a complete list of the snow removal solutions that they currently offer. Interested parties may also connect with them through their official Facebook and Twitter pages to learn more about their latest news and important announcements.
