

Stretch Marks Treatment Sale to Continue

June 28, 2015

June 28, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Earlier today, Bella Joi, the beauty company based in Cathedral City, CA, excitedly announced that the promo for their stretch marks treatment cream will continue for a few more days. Many people have purchased the cream at the discounted price already at Amazon.

"Bella Joi Beauty has always been a company that gives importance to what our customers like. This is the very reason why are extending our sale promotion", says Holly Richards, company representative. "Many people are eyeing to buy more than one cream so they can give it away to their families and friends. We are very happy that when it comes to treatment for stretch marks, we are among the top brands considered by women who are pregnant."

The interest of the target market for this specific product seems to stem from the various positive feedback that the cream has received. Many of the buyers even shared the product with others. An example of this review came from Angie H, "I ordered this stretch mark cream for my daughter who just had a baby. She is very pleased with this cream. It is non greasy and has a very pleasant scent. Her stretch marks were about 8 months old and we knew they weren't going to completely go away but this cream really helped lighten them. My daughter even used the cream on some scars that she had. They are lighter and less noticeable as well. We are very pleased with this cream and she has already asked if I will order more for her before this one is empty. I would definitely recommend this cream for anyone who is pregnant or has any stretch marks."

As for its ingredients, the naturopathic doctor who came up with the formula included Mango butter, Shea butter and Cocoa butter in what is considered a superior formulation. In addition to the three nourishing butters, three oils namely Jojoba, Rose Hip Seed and Olive were also added to the mix. While the cream boasts thickness, it is still very light. Also, it does not leave the skin greasy or oily.

This cream by Bella Joi Beauty is still available at a discounted price. It can be purchased at Amazon at <http://www.amazon.com/Bella-Joi-Stretch-Mark-Cream/dp/B00MSZNAWK/>. The promotion is only available for a limited time. After the promotion has ended, the price of the stretch mark cream will return to its original price.
