Toronto Dui Defense Lawyer Announces Help For The Accused

January 08, 2019

A Toronto criminal DUI lawyer has announced that he and his firm are now offering assistance for those who are accused of driving while impaired. The attorney and his firm have years of experience in defending against charges of DUI and state that they have the knowledge of Canadian law needed to adequately defend against these criminal charges and get their clients the best possible outcome.

The attorney says, ?Once one has been accused of driving under the influence, time is of the essence. It is critical that the accused contact a qualified and experienced attorney to get started on the defense right away. Waiting just one day could have a negative impact on the case.?

The attorney says that defense begins with questioning the proof of driving under the influence. He states that if a blood test is not taken, this proof of guilt can be very difficult to obtain, which is why getting started on the defense quickly is imperative. The DUI lawyer states that many innocent drivers have spent time in jail on a DUI charge simply because they did not contact an attorney quickly enough to get their defense started.

?It is imperative that we get started as soon as the accusations are stated,? says the attorney. ?There are a number of ways to disprove charges of driving while impaired. Our team knows them all but we have to start on the defense quickly for most of them to work adequately. When someone is charged with a DUI, the first call that they need to make is to a qualified attorney who can help them to fight those charges. We do that all while protecting the rights of our clients and helping them to reach a satisfactory outcome from their case.?

Being convicted of driving while under the influence of drugs or alcohol brings very stiff penalties in Toronto and throughout Canada. Those who are convicted could face up to a year or longer in jail. They could lose their driving privileges for up to a year or longer, or permanently for repeat offenses and they could be charged very expensive fines. This, the attorney says, is in addition to the social stigma that has been placed on being charged with a DUI. The drinking and driving lawyer says that overcoming the social stigma, changing people?s minds on the accused and making society realize that they are actually innocent of those charges, can be even more difficult than overcoming the actual charges. He says that this is another reason that it is crucial that the accused contact a qualified DUI attorney as soon as they have been charged in order to get started on a solid defense.

The Toronto attorney states that his firm has years of experience in providing solid representation for those who are accused of driving while under the influence of drugs or alcohol. He says that the accused or their family simply need to reach out to the firm to get the ball rolling on their defense. The attorney states that they offer free consultations for any DUI case and that he has the experience needed to adequately defend against charges of driving while impaired, even for those who have faced these charges in the past. Multiple offenders typically have a much more difficult time of proving innocence, which is why the attorney states that contacting his firm immediately upon being charged is crucial to the overall outcome of the case.

Those who would like more information about the firm and its experience in handling these types of criminal cases can visit them on their official website. The website offers more information about the charges of DUI in general, including a look at the potential penalties for being convicted. The attorney states that he and his firm are available to answer any questions that consumers may have about DUI cases or representation. Contact information for the DUI lawyer can be found on the firm?s website.
