January 02, 2019 -
Top naturopathic care provider Renaissance Health Centre has recently announced that they moved to a new office location in Las Vegas, Nevada. The new location is now bigger and can easily accommodate more patients. The upgraded facilities also come with state-of-the-art equipment that are readily accessible to everyone.

?Our new clinic at Cliff Shadows Suite offers more space and a better ambiance for our customers. We also upgraded our systems to better serve their needs. Overall, the center's new location offers a much-improved experience in line with the company's philosophy of compassionate holistic treatment for a vibrant, healthy, and productive life,? said Dr. Terry Pfau of Renaissance Health Centre. Dr. Pfau is a board certified neuromuscular physician with over 23 years experience in alternative medicine. He has completed studies in homeopathy and acupuncture, as well as in chelation therapy, nutrition, osteopathic manipulation, bio-identical hormone therapy, and prolotherapy. ?Together with our new Las Vegas naturopathic clinic, our patients can expect the same excellent integrative health care that Renaissance Health Centre is known for,? Dr. Pfau added.

Renaissance Health Centre remains to be one of the most comprehensive integrative health care and acupuncture clinics in the southwest area. The company has a dedicated team of physicians, naturopath, pharmacist, and nutritionist that provides for any possible therapy patients may need. The company offers naturopathic services which is a mix of natural and traditional healing methods proven to be safe, gentle, and based on the healing power of nature. They have sclerotherapy which is a recognized orthopedic procedure that stimulates natural healing processes to strengthen weakened and traumatized joints. Unlike traditional approaches like surgery and anti-inflammation drugs that often fail to relieve pain permanently and offer little in terms of joint stabilization, sclerotherapy addresses the cause directly. The treatment induces weakened sites to produce new fibrous tissues in the joints to make it more stable in the long run. They also have prolozone treatment which is similar to sclerotherapy.

The health clinic also offers frequency specific microcurrent therapy (managed electric current delivery) used to relieve pain, facilitate faster wound healing, and relieve myofascial trigger points, among others. This is advisable for patients with vertigo, anxiety, headaches, and constipation; and for patients with more serious conditions such as chronic and acute spinal pain, abdominal adhesions, and fibromyalgia. Renaissance Health Centre also offers conventional acupuncture therapy as an alternative way to treat pain and other body imbalances.

?Our clinic offers a comprehensive and integrative approach to healing the body's various ailments. That is why we have used holistic and natural therapies, as well as botanical medicine and IV nutrients in treating our patients,? according to Dr. Hazel Gois who is a licensed naturopathic physician and an expert in Chinese medicine. She is also certified in neurolinguistic programming which she uses in treating her patients. ?We use a lot of different techniques and methods with the sole purpose of healing and enabling our patients to be in optimal health.? Some of these methods include Ayurvedic medicine, anti-aging natural hormone replacement, and chelation. The health center also offers integrative cancer therapy as well as cease therapy for autism patients.

Patients have left the naturopathy health center some positive reviews in Yelp. According to Vitoria S. of North Las Vegas, ?Dr. Pfau has been a miracle worker for me and my family. He doesn't just treat symptoms, he cures illness and truly heals the sick. My husband had MRSA, horrible sores and outbreaks, Dr. Pfau cured him. In two months' time, the staph infection was gone and has never returned. My first situation upon seeing Dr. Pfau was a systemic arthritic condition that was painful hour to hour, day to day. It took a few years, but Dr. Pfau cured me. I am pain-free and have been for years. From the standpoint of today's health practices, where ugly, life-threatening drugs are prescribed to treat symptoms, not cure illness, Dr. Pfau is a true practitioner of health and well-being.? Victoria gave the company 5 stars out of 5 in the review site.

For more information on the clinic's services and book an appointment, interested parties are encouraged to check Renaissance Health Centre's website. They may also visit the clinic at the new address and experience first hand how naturopathy and homeopathy can make a big difference in their lives.
