Bella Joi, an online retailer of premium beauty products, announced earlier today that the Bella Joi Stretch Mark Cream, one of the best creams for stretch marks, is also effective on slouch lines. The product can help fade both red and white slouch lines, which are caused by sitting for long periods of time.

"We are very happy to share with everyone that aside from stretch marks, our cream can also be used to help fade slouch lines. Many people are prone to developing slouch lines because of their nature of work where they need to sit for many hours", says Bella Joi Beauty's representative, Holly Richards. "We want to empower everyone to feel good about their bodies and let them know that there are options available to solve most beauty and skin problems. Most of the time, women with stretch marks and slouch lines lose their self-confidence and we want to change that."

Slouch lines may appear if a person is seated continuously for a very long time. Because of this, those with sitting jobs are very prone to develop these marks. Just like stretch marks, it can also appear red at the beginning and then white as time goes by. In general, the white ones are more stubborn in nature and will take longer to fade away. While the cream may help in fading these lines, it is important to take note that they can reappear if the person continues to slouch.

Bella Joi Stretch Mark Cream is currently manufactured in a technologically advanced US laboratory and made of ingredients that help fade skin lines and reduce the appearance of the unsightly lines and marks on the skin.

Bella Joi sells premium skin care products online. Bella Joi Stretch Mark Cream can be found at Amazon (<http://amazon.com/Bella-Joi-Stretch-Mark-Cream/dp/B00MSZNAWK/>) as well as on Bella Joi's website.
