

VENDSQUARE

Eco Friendly Organic Health Products Company VendSquare Opens Its Doors For Business

July 08, 2015

July 08, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

VendSquare LLC in Paramus, NJ has recently announced their official launch into the health product industry. VendSquare has teamed their official business opening with the release of their first line of products for health and beauty. The products are all-natural and organically created to provide consumers with an eco-friendly solution to beauty, health, and home care products.

"This is a moment that has been some time in the making," stated VendSquare business manager Todd Aldrich. "We've been working around the clock for our official launch, and we've got a great selection of eco-friendly products for our customers."

VendSquare offers a number of organic health products and beauty supplies, including face creams, lotions and soaps, aromatherapy products, dietary supplements, and products designed for green living. The company focuses on only offering natural items, and plans to increase their lineup in the future.

"We've got high hopes for this first offering and plan to roll out new, eco-friendly products regularly," states Aldrich.

All of the products in the selection are guaranteed by VendSquare to be 100% all-natural and contain ingredients such as organic honey, coconut oil, and virgin olive oil. There are no chemicals, preservatives, or other harmful additives that can cause adverse reactions or are otherwise unhealthy.

"There are so many necessary products today that contain chemicals and other ingredients that just are not healthy," says Jennifer Sloan, MD. "If you're going to be healthy, then organic is the best way to go. I recommend all-natural products to all of my patients, just because it makes sense to avoid adding chemicals and preservatives to anything that you use."

The company and its suppliers spend hours on research for every product they offer, to ensure that only natural products are in their store. They work with industry experts and support companies that offer organic, green products for overall consumer and environmentally friendly solutions. Their goal is to get the world to a more organic state, offering nothing but the highest quality and safest products to their customers.

Consumers look for more information about VendSquare or any of their products can visit them at <http://vendsquare.com/contact/>

###

For more information about VendSquare, LLC, contact the company here: VendSquare, LLC
Todd Aldrich
customer@vendsquare.com
140 E. Ridgewood Ave. Suite 415, South Tower
Paramus, NJ 07652

VendSquare, LLC

Here at VendSquare, our goal is to provide you with premium organic, eco-friendly products that support your natural health and lifestyle. VendSquare is your one-stop shop for all your holistic healthcare needs.

Website: <http://vendsquare.com/>

Email: customer@vendsquare.com

VENDSQUARE