

Key Health Plans Announces New Website Launch

January 08, 2019

January 08, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Key Health Plans in Dallas, Texas, has announced the launch of their new website. The company states that the new site offers a fresh new look and all updated information regarding health insurance for people all over the United States.

Brian Neal, a representative for the health plan company says, "We have made it easy for consumers to get the insurance coverage that they need. With years of experience, our professional advisors can help consumers to find the best coverage based on their medical needs as well as their budget."

Neal states that they have years of experience in life and health insurance and that many of their employees also have clinical experience. He states that their licensed insurance agents can offer patients advice on choosing the right Medicare plan options and give individuals assistance on finding and purchasing health and life insurance.

The health plan company is licensed to provide insurance assistance on health, life and ancillary products in 47 states across the nation. Neal states that they do not simply guide their clients into purchasing an insurance product but says that they take the time to learn which health plan will best suit their clients' needs.

?We have helped thousands of individuals to find the perfect coverage for their needs,? Neal states. ?Our new website is designed to make it easy for clients to learn more about the insurance process and to learn some helpful tips for finding and comparing policies.?

Those who would like to learn more about Key Health Plans can visit them on their new website. Neal states that the site is designed to make it simple for clients to find and purchase the coverage that they need and that an online comparison is offered on the site so that consumers can get a good idea of which coverage offers the best solution for them.

Health insurance coverage has been a serious concern for many families in the United States over the years. Statistics show that most middle class families, who do not qualify for free government funded health insurance, struggle to get the coverage that they need at a price that they can easily afford. Neal states that their new website is designed to help families to lessen their struggle with regards to finding, purchasing and affording good health insurance coverage. The site offers information on coverage for standard life and health insurance as well as vision, dental and a variety of other coverages.

The site is designed to offer a one-stop marketplace for insurance coverage. The company states that they have real, licensed insurance agents on staff that are ready to assist consumers with their health insurance needs. Neal states that their site is designed to provide a safe and secure platform for consumers who want to compare insurance coverages. The site is protected by encryption, as well as antivirus and SSL certification to protect the information of those who use it.

The newly designed website also features an online chat option where consumers can speak with a licensed insurance agent while they are on the site looking at coverage options. Neal states that clients can use the chat feature, call the company directly or visit them in person to get assistance with choosing the best health care coverage for themselves, their families or their employees. The company offers a number of options from a wide range of insurance providers. Those interested can visit the website to learn more or connect with Key Health Plans on Facebook. Neal states that their social media pages are manned by professional insurance agents, as well and that those who would like to connect with them on Facebook can ask questions or send a private message to the company using that platform. He states that consumers in the nation who do not currently have adequate insurance coverage or businesses looking to offer coverage to their employees can contact them directly to learn more about their available options.
