A San Antonio, Texas locksmith company has announced the launch of a new website. The company states that they have been providing quality locksmithing services for years and that those interested can now learn more and contact Key Kong Locksmith in San Antonio through their official website.

Sandra Bernard, a representative for the company says, "We are excited to finally have our newly designed website up and running. Customers can now get a really good look at what we do and how we do it, and of course contact us through the site if needed."

Bernard says that the new site includes general information about the company as well as information about deals and discounts that are being offered and a blog. She states that the blog offers useful information for consumers that ranges from regional information about San Antonio to things to see and do while in the area.

"We wanted to give people some fun things to read," says Bernard. "The blog is just filled with information about the area, things for parents to do with their children and other info that is really entertaining and informative."

Bernard says that the company offers a long list of services including commercial and residential locksmithing. In addition to helping with lockouts, they also provide installation of doors, door knobs and high security locks and CCTV systems for homes.

Key Kong Locksmith also offers commercial services for installing locks, doors and security systems, as well as auto and car locksmith services. Bernard states that with their fleet of mobile units, they can often get to customers in as little as just 15 minutes after the initial call has been received. She says that anyone who is locked out of their vehicle or who has lost a car or truck key can contact the company to get the matter resolved quickly. Bernard says that more information about their complete line of locksmith services can be seen on their new website.

The company states that they only employ trustworthy, professional and experienced locksmiths to meet the needs of their customers. Bernard says that a look at the company's staff can be seen on their new website. She states that designing the site was done with their customers in mind and that they have information about all aspects of their business for those who are looking to make a decision on which locksmith to call for their needs.

The San Antonio locksmith company has been operating in the area for more than 10 years. Bernard states that adding the newly designed website to their company portfolio seemed like the best way to reach out to customers to let them know that they are available for lockouts, both emergency and non-emergency. She states that the company operates professionally and provides a personal experience for each customer. She says that they are currently one of the few companies in the San Antonio region that offer their complete line of locksmith services. The company is licensed, insured and bonded for customer satisfaction and safety.

Bernard states that the company is very pleased with their new website design and says that the entire team hopes that their customers will appreciate it, as well. She says that anyone who wants or needs more information can find it on the website, which was designed with the user in mind. She says that the site is very easy to navigate and offers information that she hopes customers will find useful. Those who would like a look at the newly designed site or who need information about the San Antonio locksmith company can visit Key Kong Locksmith on their new website. The site offers area information as well, for those who are visiting the city for the first time. Bernard states that the company has a mobile unit that is ready to dispatch within minutes to assist those in need of any lockout services that they offer.
