

Piedmont Paint & Finish Owner Charles Davis Talks About Company Values And Why He Started The Business

January 14, 2019

Charlottesville, VA - January 14, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

The owner of Piedmont Paint & Finish, a paint contractor in Charlottesville, VA, is proud to say why he started the business and the values that are at the heart of everything they do. The contractor offers their services, such as painting and cabinet refinishing, to its customers. The company's staff, located at 1726 Allied St #2, is pleased to help customers with their painting and refinishing needs.

The company's website, at <http://piedmontpaint.com/>, describes their painting, cabinet refinishing, power washing, and specialty paint services. The owner, Charles Davis, with over 20 years of experience, grew Piedmont Paint & Finish on the principles of integrity, thorough workmanship, and courteous, efficient service. He said, "We strive to be a highly reputable paint contractor and understand that our clients often have precise time frames and/or budgets, and we pride ourselves on providing clear, highly accurate proposals. Our staff treats your property with respect, making neatness a priority, and minimizing disruption to your household." Customers can get more information by calling (434) 296-0900.

The company's service area covers greater Charlottesville and surrounding areas. Their residential services include interior painting for single rooms to entire estates. They also do the exterior painting for old or new homes. And they provide cabinet refinishing, casework, spray painting, and other furniture refinishing services. Piedmont's commercial services include projects for retail properties, institutions, etc.. Interior repainting can be disruptive to a building and the company's property exterior is the visitor's first impression of the company so Piedmont handles both areas. Cabinet painting is another of Piedmont's specialties that can improve the look of the cabinets and increase the resale value of the home. The company also provides power washing for residential and large-scale commercial projects.

The company's creative division, Pigment, specializes in re-fabbed furnishings, custom paint finishes including murals, graphics, antique glazes, faux, and more. The staff can help homeowners select anything, from a single color and finish for a piece of furniture, to an entire home inside and out. They offer a warranty on labor and materials for a period of 90 days. The creative director and lead designer, Christy Baker, even provides individual consultations by the hour in the home or in their shop.

The company makes it easy to go online and learn more about their services, get a quote, get directions to their shop, and more. Their Facebook page, located at <https://www.facebook.com/PiedmontPaint>, is just one place to go to see photos of their work, read reviews, watch videos, etc.. They are members of the Painting and Decorating Contractors of America and are Lead-Safe Certified with the Environmental Protection Agency. Charles Davis says, "We try to make the environment as safe and clean as we can. It is important for everybody to do their part to preserve our habitat on Earth."

Charles Davis says that they understand how essential professionalism is to their clients and, regardless of the project size, Piedmont is consistent in offering the same high level of craftsmanship and attention to detail. Christy Baker said, "Our decades of experience in custom paint finishes can be seen when you visit our showroom." Further proof of the company's high standards is evident in their client's reviews. William Quandt said, "We were very pleased with the work done by Piedmont Paints. I would be inclined to go with them on future projects based on this experience." Dottie Martin, in her 5-star review on Facebook, said, "Piedmont painting did an excellent job. Their prices were fair, they left my house spotless, and were pleasant to be around." The company's ethics and principles are clearly defined on their website, at <http://piedmontpaint.com/about/>.

Future customers can learn more about why the company owner began the business, the ethics, the principles that they abide by, and the services they provide by visiting the company's website at piedmont.com and their social media pages. Or they can call the company's headquarters in Charlottesville, VA.
