

Infinit Lash Products Restocks Their New Eyelash Extension Cleanser

January 22, 2019

January 22, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Tasha Land of Infinit Lash Products is happy to announce the re-launch of one of their best products, the eyelash extension cleanser. This product was sold out within a week of its first launch, so they are re-launching it now that it is back in stock. It is applied to the eyelashes and lids before applying extension glue in order to create a stronger hold.

When approached about this announcement, Tasha Land shared this comment, "We didn't expect for the product to sell out in its first week. But I guess members with Prime got the product right away and were happy to recommend it to their friends. The rest is history. We are now restocked with the product and it is still selling quickly as before -- we've just made sure to include more backstock this time. We hope our new, eager buyers enjoy this cleanser just as much as our innovators!?"

Infinit Lash Products has been in the business of selling fashion and make-up products for over 15 years. In the last 10 years, they have focused on their digital shop rather than their brick and mortar. This is so that they can provide their fantastic products to consumers who need them -- worldwide. Infinit Clean is used before the application of eyelash extension glue and is simply one of their latest of many products that have built an expectation behind their brand.

A verified Amazon buyer shared this glowing review, "By far the best lash cleanser/eye make up remover! Gently removes eye makeup without disturbing my lash extensions. Seriously zero trace of eyeliner is gone and my lashes stayed 100% intact. I love the little cleansing brush it comes with. Will definitely purchase again. If you have lash extensions and are looking for a safe eye make remover/lash cleanser look no further!?"

This cleanser is designed to work for both cleaning make-up off the eyelids and also cleaning the eyelashes. It can be used in preparation for an eyelash extension appointment or to clean the eyelashes after extensions have been applied. The glue used for eyelash extensions will collect dirt, dust, and make-up and must be washed away in order to prevent damage to the glue. This cleanser is gentle and oil-free, allowing the eyelashes to be properly cleaned without breaking down the extension glue.

Another Amazon shopper was happy to leave this 5-star review after trying the product, "I've always struggled finding something to properly clean my eyelashes. You definitely feel the gentleness of the cleaner and it won't take away a handful of lashes as you clean."

It can also be used for cleansing the surface of the eyelid prior to applying temporary eyelashes or eyelash glue. However, aside from that, it promotes good eye hygiene and health by keeping dirt and dust away from the eye. It uses a foam pump to dispense the product, making it easy to use and apply to the eyelid and lashes. Eyelash extension wearers should have a good eyelash cleanser not only for after the extensions are applied, but also to use before the extensions are applied.

Kennedi S., left this 5-star review on Amazon, "This product was super gentle, it did not irritate my eyes at all and got my lashes clean with just one pump, I got it for my recently installed lash extensions."

Eyelash extension glue needs a clean surface in order to create a prime adhesive surface. For eyelash extensions, that means the applicator needs to be ready to apply within seconds of the glue's application. However, if the glue is applied to a dirty or dusty surface, it will not properly spread, making the application process difficult. The eyelash tech will need to start again after removing the failed product application.

One of the buyers that purchased during the first week the product was launched, left this review on the Amazon product page, "I love this product. It's easy to use, lightweight and did not irritate my eyes. Other products I've tried were oily and messy. I highly recommend this product and brand."
