ActiveGear, a Miami, Florida based athletic supply company, has announced a new range of options for their popular calf compression sleeve. The company states that the sleeve is now available on the Amazon marketplace in a variety of color combinations including black and gray, black and blue, black and pink and white and gray.

Angela Hamilton, a representative for the company says, "These sleeves are specifically designed to support legs while active. They can be used for any type of sport as well as walking, air travel and throughout pregnancy to help improve circulation and generally make the legs feel better."

Hamilton states that the sleeves are now available on Amazon in a variety of color schemes and sizes to fit all customers. The calf supports are manufactured with blended nylon, spandex and rubber and can be worn during pre-workout or post-workouts, as well as during activities to reduce pain and inflammation throughout the legs. The company states that the sleeves are made to fit men, women and children, in two different sizes to provide a universal fit.

“For those who experience pain and swelling after working out or doing anything activity related, these compression sleeves are perfect,” says Hamilton. “And, they’re not only for working out. They can be very helpful for those who spend hours each day on their feet. Retail workers, construction workers, anyone who comes home at the end of the day with tired, achy feet and legs can wear our calf guards to help alleviate that pain and swelling.”

Hamilton says that there are a number of uses for the sleeves, including to help to improve blood flow and to alleviate pain. She states that because the sleeves help to improve blood circulation in the legs, they could also be helpful for decreasing the appearance of varicose veins and spider veins. She states that the company highly recommends them for customers who have had an accident or surgery that involved the calves or legs. The sleeves can be worn to help eliminate swelling and keep the blood flowing properly through the legs to help the patient heal more quickly and more effectively.

The company states that their sleeves are now available on the Amazon marketplace in their different sizes and color combinations. Hamilton states that the company’s official website also has a list of reasons to use calf compression sleeves, giving customers a better idea of how the sleeves can help them with their workouts or daily activities. She states that those who fly for work or pleasure quite regularly, or who travel by car for long periods of time can also wear the sleeves to help keep blood flowing and eliminate the tired and achy legs that often accompany long periods of sitting on one place.

ActiveGear has been providing quality workout accessories to customers for a number of years. Hamilton states that their company goal is to provide the best sports accessories and equipment to their customers to help them enhance their active lifestyles. She states that every single product produced by the company undergoes rigorous testing to check for performance, durability and overall satisfaction to customers.

All of their support pieces, including their new line of sleeves for calves, are designed to be lightweight so that they are comfortable when worn and to stay in place so that they can be worn in a number of activities and situations from running to walking, sitting or workout out. Hamilton says that those who are interested can now view the sleeves on the Amazon marketplace. Those interested in learning more about how or why to use the compression sleeves or about the company in general can visit them on their official company website. ActiveGear offers a wide range of products that are designed for optimal workouts and active lifestyles. Hamilton states that they have a number of reviews of various products on their website and on their Amazon page for those who would like to learn more.
