

VENTURE 4TH Launches Two New Sleeping Bag Color Variations

January 24, 2019

January 24, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

VENTURE 4TH has announced new color variations for their popular sleeping bag. In addition to their original color of blue and gray, the company states that they are now offering the bag in green and green colors and a red and orange color variety.

Patricia Wright, a spokesperson for the camping supply company says, "Camping season is coming up quickly so we wanted to help camping enthusiasts to get prepared with some new exciting color schemes. Our bag is great for all three camping seasons and can be used in moderate temperatures from spring until autumn."

Wright says that the bag is spacious enough to provide ultimate comfort and manufactured with a waterproof polyester design to keep campers warm and comfortable during the most popular camping seasons. The bags are barrel shaped and designed to offer adults plenty of sleeping room while also hugging the body to provide comfort.

The company states that their bags are all tested to the highest possible standards to ensure that they provide the quality that they have become known for in the camping industry. The bag is a backpacking bag, making it easier to carry than traditional bags and helps to keep campers warm in temperatures that range from 30 degrees Fahrenheit and cool in temperatures up to 70 degrees Fahrenheit. Wright says that the waterproof material is also tested to ensure complete dry even in sudden camping downpours.

?The worse thing in the world is getting wet while sleeping because of a sudden rain,? Wright says. ?Our bags are designed to provide the ultimate in waterproof sleeping. Campers can rely on them to keep them warm and dry during any camping trip.?

Wright says that those who are interested can connect with VENTURE 4TH on their official Facebook page to hear what others have to say about the bags and to interact with those who share similar interests. She states that their page is regularly updated, offering customers information about new product launches and providing basic information about camping and the products that they offer for campers and hikers.

Wright continues that the bag is now available in three distinct color schemes and says that all of their bags are manufactured from durable fabric that is guaranteed to be rip-free. All bags feature the highest grade of polyester fabric as well as durable zippers that have been tested to ensure that they work properly at all times, even in periods of rain and colder temperatures.

The company offers a number of products through the Amazon marketplace, all designed to make camping and hiking more entertaining for customers. Wright says that their popular bags are designed to be lightweight, weighing in at less than three pounds, and come with a strap for easy transportation and carrying.

The company provides a wide range of camping and travel accessories for those who enjoy spending their time outdoors camping or generally traveling regularly. Wright states that their official Amazon seller?s page is filled with products that range from their popular camping bags to travel money belts, travel towels, neck pouches with RFID blocking for carrying credit cards, as well as various other travel needs. She states that anyone who enjoys traveling or spending time outdoors will find their products to be beneficial.

Those who are interested in learning more about the company and the variety of products that they offer can visit them on their official Amazon page or on Facebook. Wright states that their new camping bag colors are now available on Amazon for customers to view and purchase. Their Amazon page also has a number of testimonials and reviews from past customers, each giving the company a raving rating indicating that they are more than pleased with their purchase. Those interested can read through their customer reviews or contact the company through Amazon to learn more about their bags or any of the products that they offer for sale.
