More and more homeowners are beginning to go online in order to find solutions for selling their homes fast. ?Our online presence has made a big impact on our business,? says Evan Roberts, the owner of Dependable Homebuyers. ?Sellers want to know what houses have you bought, who were your past customers, and how can you help me in my exact situation. They want proof that our company can deliver on our promises.?

This proof is precisely what potential home sellers get when they look online. Dependable Homebuyers has spent significant time building their online reputation from Facebook to Yelp. Dependable Homebuyers is an open book online with tons of information geared towards helping homeowners make the right decisions when selecting the buyer for their home. ?Selling a house is one of the most importance decisions that a person makes in a lifetime. It make the most sense to choose the company that is most qualified and that has experience dealing with a sellers individual situation, no matter what the situation is.?

Listing a property the traditional way with a real estate agent can be expensive. When it comes to real estate industry fees, the costs add up. Around the country, the standard realtor commission is 6%, which can mean thousands, or tens of thousands of dollars, out of the seller?s bottom line. That doesn?t even include the standard seller closing costs and seller concessions and price reductions and holding costs, which typically come out to about 2% to 4% of the sales price.

Predictably, homeowners started looking for a way to keep more of their hard earned equity. Dependable Homebuyers provides a solution to this problem by purchasing properties directly from homeowner without the need for a real estate agent or closing costs. They offer zero-fee home buying solutions, which meant that their sellers were to net exactly what the contracted price was, no exceptions. This has filled a demand in the real estate market and has increased purchases by Dependable Homebuyers, according to Mr. Roberts.

?Sellers gained their confidence in us because we have a no frills and no sneaky surprises way of doing business. They know that when we say We Buy Houses, they will get a net cash payment on the day of their choice for exactly what they expected to receive,? said Roberts. Fortunately for homeowners, home buying companies like Dependable Homebuyers are gaining popularity and momentum quickly and they don?t look to be slowing down anytime soon.

Dependable Homebuyers is a team of real estate professionals truly care about homeowners and their families. Instead of waiting for an owner occupant to buy your property, this company has been able to eliminate any hassles regarding timelines and unnecessary costs required by a Realtor.
