January 24, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Dynamic Wellness & Chiropractic is considered to be one of the best chiropractic offices in the nation for drug free pain relief. Dynamic Wellness Tampa Chiropractic recently added a new device to their drug free pain treatment options with the purchase of a new vibration massage device called the Hypervolt. The Hypervolt is manufactured by Hyperice and is designed to bring double benefits for a number of injuries and illnesses when coupled with Active Release Techniques used by the center.

"We are pleased to offer this new device as a means of treatment for our patients," says Dr. Larry Wilson. "When coupled with ART, this can have a significant healing effect for sports recovery and other injuries."

Dr. Wilson reports that patients love the pain relief that they experience when the machine is used on them. He says that the Hypervolt is an innovative massage tool that has been optimized for precise myofascial release. The deep tissue massage that it provides can help to relieve a number of common muscle pains as well as stiffness. Dr. Wilson states that it can be used to provide patients with a better range of motion and to improve blood flow to injured areas of the body.

Dynamic Wellness & Chiropractic in Tampa FL, is a studio type chiropractic center that is located in a historical neighborhood. Dr. Wilson states that their uniquely designed office helps to put chiropractic patients at ease when they visit. He says that combined with their state of the art technology, patients trust that they will receive the very best in care from their practice.

The new massage tool is used in collaboration with a number of other treatments offered at the wellness center. Dr. Wilson states that each patient is treated on a case by case basis, meaning that no two patients may receive the same treatment. Patients are evaluated to determine the specific treatment that will best benefit them. He states that the new massage tool can be very useful for patients who suffer from sports injuries such as pulled muscles and ligaments or those who have chronic back or neck pain, among others.

"We work to personalize treatment for each of our patients," says Dr. Wilson. "Many of our patients will certainly benefit from the use of this new massage tool and we look forward to offering this treatment to future patients as well."

Dr. Wilson is a licensed chiropractor. He gained his degree from the Palmer College of Chiropractic in Florida and while there, he served as the president of the Student American Chiropractic Association. Prior to earning his chiropractic license, Dr. Wilson studied political science and criminology at the University of North Florida. He worked as an EMT and Beach Safety Lieutenant in Destin, Florida after obtaining his bachelor's degree from the University of North Florida.

Dr. Wilson states that he moved to Tampa Bay in 2015 and worked with a sports medicine facility, providing care for many NFL, MLB, and NHL professional athletes. He founded Dynamic Wellness in 2016 and has since been providing chiropractic services for professional and amateur athletes as well as general patients. He has been deemed as a provider of the best chiropractic care in the region by his patients. He is certified in Active Release Techniques, which he states will work well with the center's new Hypervolt machine for deep tissue massage.

Dr. Wilson and his staff provide a number of chiropractic services including therapeutic modalities, rehabilitative exercise, soft tissue mobilization and others. He states that anyone who has questions about their new massage device or any of the services that they offer can visit the wellness center on their official website. Dr. Wilson states that he and his staff are available to answer questions and can be reached by telephone or email. Those interested can fill out the online form to contact the wellness center or to schedule an initial consultation for treatment.
