Carmel, Indiana based Mission To Market, a digital marketing agency that specializes in search engine optimization (SEO), has recently issued a public advisory that explains how Google My Business Marketing can help local car dealers to achieve their revenue quota and reach their target sales easily.

“Mission To Market is one of the leading Google My Business Marketing service providers in Indiana and the surrounding areas. Having developed our own proprietary platform based on Google’s Google My Business API, we have a team of professional digital marketing experts that can help small and medium enterprises (SMEs), like car dealerships, to attract a steady stream of potential customers to their doorstep,” says Cody Harvey from Mission To Market.

According to Forbes.com, Google My Business is an interface that allows business owners to control and monitor how their name is displayed throughout all of Google’s products, partners, and platforms, including its search engine results pages (SERPs), reviews, and instant contents. Once a brand name has been registered and claimed, the business owner will have access to a number of Google My Business features that include posts, bookings, statistics, and insights.

Harvey explains that Google My Business is an effective strategy of marketing for car dealers as it primarily allows them to take charge of all their online company information. Updating entries in Google My Business practically guarantees that all online details pertaining to the business will be accurate. Furthermore, car dealers are also given the chance to provide their business address, phone numbers, and other relevant details like their operating hours, and frequently asked questions (FAQs), all of which are valuable to ensure that customers can connect with the business more easily.

“Secondly, Google My Business also improves your company’s visibility and brand recognition online. Most third-party websites rely on Google’s information for their own web contents and by having a complete and comprehensive profile, you are increasing your chances of getting featured on them. Furthermore, you are also making it easier for Google to index your searchable data, so it’s more likely that your company will show up at the top of the local SERPs,” he said.

However, Google My Business, just like any other SEO techniques requires consistent monitoring to be successfully executed. By hiring a professional digital marketing company, business owners can focus more on running their businesses while SEO experts strategize on how to drive more customers to their doorstep. Furthermore, digital marketing costs are significantly lower than traditional mediums such as TV commercials and print advertisements.

In addition, Mission To Market for SEO services also explains that their proprietary platform works well together with Google’s Google My Business API to make analytics and data tracking a lot easier. It also enables business owners to better analyze their brand’s clicks and search results so they can strategize on how to improve their company’s visibility to their target audience.

“Google My Business also plays a huge part in terms of your SEO strategy because it enables you to respond to all comments and questions about your company from one place. By consistent reputation management with the help of Google reviews, you can refute negative comments and gracefully maneuver from them, or show gratitude and appreciation to those who have recognized your efforts in providing them with excellent products and services,” he added.

Ultimately, marketing experts explain that combining a number of SEO techniques and solutions will help SMEs and local businesses to achieve the brand recognition that they deserve. They also say that it might take some time for business owners to see results, but organic SEO offers a lot more financial and marketing benefits in the long run. These include low advertising costs and increased return on investment (ROI), recognition and brand awareness, and possibilities of business ventures and collaborations in the future.

Those who are looking for a professional digital marketing agency may consider Mission To Market. Aside from Google My Business marketing, they also offer a wide range of online services including SEO, lead generation, conversion rate optimization, paid media advertising, along with web and content development.
