With office jobs on the rise, it is no surprise that workers are turning to electric staplers and pencil sharpeners to assist them during the day. There are many different brands and prices to choose from when deciding which electric stapler to purchase, more and more shoppers have begun steering away from large brands and choosing small-family owned ones as they offer competitive pricing, customer care, and performance.

The once very popular Bostitch brand is said to not compete with the Electronix EX-25 electric stapler. Customers on Amazon who have reviewed both the staplers and finding the EX-25 to be the best handheld stapler, and have better performance. When reviewing the EX-25 one customer wrote, "This is an awesome stapler. I have gone through a few Bostitch Electric staplers and they jam so easily! I actually gave up on electric stapler until my wrist recently started to hurt from excessive stapling. I staple about 100 times a day and this definitely saves my wrist from the traditional stapler. What's even better is that this uses regular staples! I don't need to go buy special "crowned" staples like I had to with Bostitch. I highly recommend this stapler even for commercial use.?"

Unlike the stanley bostitch electric stapler, the EX-25 does not require fancy and expensive staples.

Customers can use standard staples and it does not affect the staplers performance. Another customer stated in a review the pricing difference between the two staplers, ?I have many expensive Bostitch & similar models. The kind that cost $400, they break fast, they tell me it because we use standard staples. Their better staples cost 5 times more. I bought this inexpensive stapler & it works like a charm. I immediately bought two more.?

The EX-25 is $39.73, but it also includes a lifetime warranty, meaning that if at any time the stapler breaks, is defective, or damaged, EcoElectronix will send a brand new replacement out within 24-hours without hassle. Many customers have found that the Bostitch does not last long whereas the EX-25 does, as stated by Sofia. ?Bought it for my pharmacy. It?s not once jammed and has gone through thousands of staples. Way better than the company provided Bostitch (we?ve gone through 3 of those), at half the price.?

EcoElectronix is a small family owned business that sells exclusively through their website and Amazon. The EX-25 electric stapler is made with impact-resistant ABS material and sustainable environment-friendly manufacturing practices. The company also donates a portion of their sales to environmental charities including, Rainforest Alliance and Earthjustice.

To purchase the EX-25 readers can visit Amazon.com where it is available in both black and white and with free two-day shipping for Prime members.
