LiveEco is proud to announce Emoji Party, a line of party favors for ages five months and up. Christina Abels of LiveEco states that "with four different styles kids can communicate their personality by choosing their favorite."

The emoji party bags are nine by twelve inches made of durable material that will allow them to hold candy and small surprise items without tearing made from thick environment friendly LDPE plastic. Christina says, "Kids will be thrilled to take home a bit of the party with their favorite emoji party bag."

LiveEco sources the material for the emoji party bags from green sources and uses 10-20% recycled materials.

Christina states, "It is important for grown ups to provide the brightest possible future to kids and that is why it is important to us in achieving a reduced carbon footprint. At LiveEco, we are committed to conducting business in a socially responsible manner by working with CarbonFun to achieve carbon-neutral shipping. We also use 10-20 percent recycled materials during our manufacturing process to push for the lowest carbon footprint possible and use every sustainable manufacturing practice available to us. We also happily donate a portion your sale to environmental charities including Rainforest Alliance and Earth Justice. We are committed to providing you with the highest quality party favor bags, while also doing our part of being socially responsible and protecting the environment.?

Christina notes that when planning a party and choosing party favor bags consider the emoji party supplies. She says, ?At LiveEco we are all about fun and excitement, especially for kids and nothing says fun, like our brightly-colored and happy gift bags.?

The emoji party bags have a lifetime ?No-Rip? guarantee which customers have agreed are an ?Amazon?s Choice?. They also have the highest number of reviews because of the quality and guarantee.

Christina states, ?Here at LiveEco, we are passionate about bringing life and personality to a party. We aim to help provide lasting memories for children of all ages to cherish for a lifetime. Whether it?s for their birthday party or for achieving an exciting milestone in their childhood we are determined to provide premium quality, environmentally friendly emoji party supplies that can have a lasting impression on a child. You can feel pride knowing that our bags are made from recycled materials during manufacturing and will not rip when you fill them full of goodies. We want you to be completely happy and satisfied with your purchase of our deluxe emoji party bags. So you can order with confidence knowing that your party favor bags will not rip because we take great pride in the quality of our product.?

While there are plenty of party favor bags available none have the personality or fun of the emoji party bags, Christina says. She states that the kids will be thrilled with the party favor bags and will think they are cool. ?Since they are tear resistant the kids can then put stuff in them at home for traveling or safekeeping,? she notes.

Christina adds, ?The emoji bags are great gift bags for classrooms, homes, and church celebrations. In fact, they are great for any type of celebration from birthdays to carnivals to rewards and treats, children will love them and even try to make the faces that are on the bag which adds to the fun.?

The next birthday party, classroom reward, treat for a special holiday, a home or church celebration, Christina says the LiveEco emoji gift bags will make a great addition. She adds that they are cost effective at an extremely reasonable rate for 40 bags. ?Even if you do not have 40 kids at the party, these eco-friendly tear resistant bags can be used for other celebrations, rewards or gifts,? she says.

LiveEco provides quality party favor bags while making sure that they are eco-friendly, reducing the carbon footprint, and offering them at a rate that anyone will find affordable. The emoji party favor bag supplies can be found at LiveEco's Amazon storefront.
