

Minneapolis Water Damage Specialist Launches Updated Website

January 29, 2019

January 29, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Versatile Restoration Pros, a water damage restoration specialist in Minneapolis, MN, has announced that they have just launched their updated website. The company is not just a roofing contractor but also a top water damage expert in Minneapolis and nearby areas. They are able to provide water damage assessment, emergency services, and water removal, cleaning, drying, and restoration. All of these and other information can be accessed at the company's newly updated website.

Marie Duncan, spokesperson for the water damage specialist, says, "We are happy to announce that our updated website is now up and running. Hopefully, this will let people know more about our services. We service the Twin Cities MN Metro area, along with Central Minnesota. We are a 24/7, emergency restoration service near your location and we take pride in the fact that we are ready to go when you experience an issue in your home or business. We work seamlessly with your insurance company for residential and commercial water, fire, flood and mold damage claims. We want to make sure you have the best restoration experience possible during this unpleasant time."

Versatile Restoration Pros provides a wide range of restoration services, not just water damage restoration.

These include fire damage restoration, storm damage restoration, mold removal and remediation, residential restoration, sewage damage cleanup, and commercial restoration services. They are ready for any emergency restoration service that may be required in Minneapolis and neighboring areas. Thus, they are open 24 hours a day and every day of the week.

Water damage restoration begins with damage assessment. The water damage professionals will inspect the area to find out the source of the damage, how severe it is, and whether the extent of the damage is much farther than it seems. Next, they will come up with a plan to eliminate any standing water, and get rid of any risks to the homeowner, family members, and to the property.

Removing any standing water is the next step in water damage restoration. For this, they will use powerful pumps to effectively remove the water as fast as possible. Next, they will use vacuums to suck out any remaining water from the carpets. They will then use drying and dehumidifying equipment to remove the remaining water and thus prevent mold growth. They will then assist the homeowner in moving, cleaning and sanitizing furniture, even restoring them whenever this is required. They have special equipment for drying out upholstery and other materials. They will also sanitize them to prevent mold growth and help get rid of any smells. Next will be the restoration process, which can take as long as week or more, depending on the extent of the damage.

Fire damage restoration services are for those homes damaged by fire. Although homeowners can do the cleaning themselves, it is often a good idea to hire an expert on fire damage restoration because this is a lengthy and tiring process. Also, these professionals may still be able to do something to salvage some valuable belongings. And homeowners need not worry about the cost of fire damage clean up and restoration because this is usually affordable and may even be covered by insurance.

One of the first things that fire damage restoration professionals will do is to look for those items that are salvageable, such as furniture, clothes, photo albums, and more. Next, they will then start cleaning the walls and floor, eliminating the soot and other debris caused by the fire, smoke and soot. Furthermore, the professionals will likely open the windows and make use of huge fans to allow the air to circulate better to get rid of the bad odor.

Versatile Restoration Pros of Minneapolis has several years of experience cleaning up water, sewage, storm damage and mold issues. To simplify the whole process, they'll even help homeowners and property owners with their insurance claim and bill the insurance company directly, to make homeowners' lives a little less stressful. Those who want more information or who want to schedule an appointment can visit their updated website or contact them by phone.
