Catonsville, Maryland based company, Amazing Health Solutions, has announced their new YouTube Channel, which provides viewers with videos focusing on health and fitness. The videos contain tips for weight loss and information on a variety of holistic supplements backed by the company. These can be found online at <https://www.youtube.com/user/AmazingHealthChannel/>.

These new videos also contain information on many of the Forskolin supplement products available through the company, which work to enhance the health and wellness of those who use them. Amazing Health Solutions is recognized for their holistic approach to fitness and weight loss, as can be seen through their official website at <http://www.amazinghealthsolutions.com/>. Here, the company outlines natural ingredients which work to enhance beauty, prevent early-aging, and increase fitness. AHS explains by saying, "Years ago, we realized that there were untapped solutions to many of the health problems we all face from day to day. We knew from experience that some natural substances had rather remarkable properties. We heard about and experienced fantastic results by using aloe for burns and scars; we found that honey had anti-bacterial uses; we experimented with coconut oil and found it to be a pretty astounding moisturizer, psoriasis inhibitor, and much more. It was then that we realized that holistic and natural medicine had the possibility of becoming the wave of the future."

The new YouTube Channel will act as an enhancement to the company's customer service initiative, which they have explained is very important to them. By introducing consumers to personal tips and techniques through the videos, and their blog at <http://www.amazinghealthsolutions.com/blog/>, Amazing Health Solutions has ultimately created a way to better communicate with those who use their products.

Currently, the company is hosting eleven videos through the new channel, but stated that they plan on adding more as time goes on. With regularly updated content and products which are created in the United States, Amazing Health Solutions is certainly in a position to advance to the top of their industry. Each product is described as being made using the highest quality of ingredients and offers a 100% money back guarantee.
