

Louisville Roofing Guys Announces Residential Services

January 31, 2019

January 31, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Louisville Roofing Guys in Louisville, Kentucky, has announced that they are open for business. The company serves the entire Louisville area with residential and small commercial roofing repairs, patches, replacements and installations.

Kimberly Lee, a representative for the company states that the company will handle any and all jobs, no matter their size. She says, "We tackle those smaller jobs that many other companies will not do because they only require little work. We are pleased to be able to offer our years of experience to home and business owners in Louisville and look forward to handling roofing needs for our customers."

The company states that while they are equipped to handle larger complete roofing replacements, they also do smaller jobs including single patches. Lee states that they have a team of knowledgeable and experienced professionals who are ready to provide property owners with roofing services that range from single shingle replacements to complete new roofs. She says that the company treats every job with the same professionalism and quality, no matter the size of the job.

?Those in need of roofing services simply have to contact us,? says Lee. ?We will send out an experienced technician to survey the roof and determine what needs to be done. We always keep our customers in the loop, ensuring that they fully understand what services they need and why.?

Lee says that the company would never attempt to convince a property owner that they need more services than they actually do need. She states that while other roofing companies may try to talk customers into purchasing a new roof, their company will only do the specific repairs or replacements that are truly needed.

Lee says that the company itself offers many years of experience and that they hire only the most qualified and experienced technicians to serve their customers. She says that roofing issues can happen at any time and for a number of reasons. Because of this, she recommends that anyone who has an older roof on their home get an evaluation of that roof.

Roofing problems can cause interior problems. When water from the roof leaks through to the ceiling, it can cause massive damage that could cost thousands of dollars in repairs. Lee says that the best way to avoid this expensive scenario is to have roofs evaluated regularly to ensure that they are in good condition and not prone to leaks and other issues.

She states that the company can provide home and small business owners with roofing evaluations that will let them know what shape their roof is in and whether or not any repairs or replacements are needed before bad weather or other situations occur.

Those who are interested can learn more about the company by visiting them online. Lee says that their website offers information about the wide range of roofing services that they provide as well as information about their service areas. In addition, they have a number of customer reviews on Google and on their official Facebook page. Lee states that those who are interested can, ?See our reviews? online to help them to determine whether or not they feel that the Louisville company is the best one for their needs. The company also welcomes feedback from customers and urges those who have used them in the past to share their experiences to give others an idea of their experiences.

The company states that they regularly update their website with information about their services and that their Facebook page provides a good place for customers to interact with others who have used their services. Company updates are also provided on their official Facebook page. Lee states that anyone who is interested in learning more or in scheduling a repair, replacement or a roofing evaluation will find contact information on the company?s official website. Interested property owners can contact them through Facebook, their website or directly by phone or email.
