Amazon.com is one of the largest online retailers to exist, it is home to many different products and sellers. It is not uncommon for people to browse Amazon for products and services to help make their life easier or more efficient. For those who go to school, work in offices, have kids or spend a lot of time writing and drawing, the EX-20 is a go-to product.

EcoElectronix customer Ruth wrote a 5-star review stating that the EX-20 was the best pencil sharpener she has found. "This is the best pencil sharpener that we have ever found. It is amazing! Sharpening any kind of pencil is a breeze with this sharpener. We are always searching for broken pencils to sharpen and it is really nice that it doesn't need batteries."

Ruth added, "It has three settings and the duller setting is nice for colored pencils because that way when you color they don't break. We left on vacation a little while ago and we broke some pencils and we were lamenting that we did not bring the EX-20 along. I think that you should buy this product, especially if you find yourself faced with the difficulty of having pencils that break on you often.?

Owner of EcoElectronix, Seth Allen states he believes in using environmentally friendly manufacturing practices and contributing to a better tomorrow by donating a portion of sales to environmental charities. ?At EcoElectronix we care about our customers and the environment. We work extremely hard to ensure our products are reliable and high-quality while keeping the manufacturing process as eco-friendly as possible.?

Customers can feel good knowing that their money is not only going to a high-quality product but also helping the environment. The EX-20 has many unique settings such as a built-in sensor that detects when the pencil is fully sharpened, this prevents over-sharpening and soft lead breaking off. The EX-20 also includes a lifetime warranty, if the sharpener is defective, damaged, or breaks, EcoElectronix will replace it hassle free.
