LiveEco is proud to incentivise education through the use of emoji-based products, such as their emoji pencil toppers for kids. The company firmly believes in its mission to lift up the spirits of children of all ages through their products.

One reviewer gave the emoji erasers a 5-Star rating, saying, "My wife and I like to purchase unique little items for our kids and their classrooms. Being a former teacher, she is pretty attuned to classroom needs, so when she saw these emoji erasers on Amazon, she thought they would be pretty fun for our kids as well. We received these in the mail today, and as soon as my kids saw them, there were shouts of joy: 'Wow! Dad, are these emoji erasers for us?' and, 'I love this one!' for example. We are extremely pleased with this set. Since there are 120 erasers in this pack (12 of the more popular emojis), there is more than enough for both of the kids' classmates. Yes, they look different, but they work better than other erasers too."

LiveEco is passionate about bringing fun and excitement to children through innovative and exciting emoji-based products. Eco-friendly means are used during manufacturing, such as the use of recycled material. LiveEco also ensures there are zero toxic elements of any kind in any of their products. As a result, parents are happy with the company's efforts to make sure that the products cannot harm their children.

The emoji pencil toppers feature a variety of faces set into the head of the pencils that children can collect and enjoy. There are also sixty emoji-face erasers with emoji graphics, designed to bring the appeal of emojis to the classroom, and also take them into the outside world.

A company spokesperson stated, "The LiveEco Emoji eraser pencil toppers are not just an excellent way to make schoolwork fun for children, they also serve the purpose of collectively bringing children closer to each other in a positive way. Children can come together with their emoji toppers inside school and compare them, or take them outside and enjoy them elsewhere. There are many ways to enhance a child's love of learning with these products, giving significant benefit to their education and happiness, and emoji products like these are just the start."

The spokesperson went on to describe how the product can deliver easy rewards to children who behave. Chores and homework inside are a staple of both modern parenting and teaching. It is common knowledge, LiveEco acknowledges, that when children are unhappy or have no incentive to do their work, they begin to misbehave.

Research has shown that one of the best ways to motivate good behavior is to incentivise it with rewards. LiveEco is confident that products like their emoji pencil toppers and emoji erasers fulfill this role, allowing both teachers and parents to subtly encourage their children to behave and perform better, whether that is in the classroom or at home. The uncomplicated nature of the product means that it can work in any environment, putting a smile on a child's face wherever they are.

This belief is reflected in LiveEco's outreach as well, such as in the description for the erasers on Amazon: "Our fun, mini emoji-faced erasers are the perfect incentive, reward, and school supply for children of all ages. Our erasers will help encourage fun and positivity in the classroom, and at home."

Reviews are positive, with a considerable number of customers mentioning the incentive/reward dynamic that the emoji pencil toppers can bring to the classroom. One reviewer said, "So far the erasers are a hit. I am using them instead of stickers for my class. When the kids listen to the story, they get an eraser. They love them."

"I got these as a reward for my kids and they love them! They are so excited to be able to pick out their favorite after school. The faces hold up as well as could be expected for an eraser. Overall, we like them!" gushed another reviewer.

LiveEco also manufactures emoji favor bags, which can be used as gift bags or for children who want to express their personality. The pack includes forty different emoji-faced bags, each expressing a different face.
