Worry Free Catering has announced that they have expanded their catering services in Las Vegas, Nevada, which means that are able to provide more services, including brunch catering, catering for conventions, Christmas services, cocktail parties, dinner party catering, event catering, family style catering, lunch catering, tacos, and wedding services. Worry Free Catering has more than 10 years of experience in the catering business and their head chef is highly trained and has already cooked for celebrities. More information about their services can be gleaned by visiting their website at www.worryfreecatering.com.

Matt Maser, spokesperson for Worry Free Catering, says, "Now this might sound a little obvious, considering there are hundreds of caterers in Las Vegas, but we truly think we are the best one. Sure, you could contact one of the big restaurant caterers like Boston Market or the Cosmopolitan, but we think you'd rather work with a smaller local only catering company like Worry Free Catering. We have our company office located here near the Strip in Las Vegas, Nevada and love working with locals as well as tourists."

One great reason people may want to hire the services of Worry Free Catering for any event is the positive reviews they have received from past clients. For instance, Alexis J. gave the catering service five stars and said, "Worry Free Catering made our event a blast! They spent a lot of time making sure we had a good experience. The food was delicious too! They made a wide variety of dishes for our convention and everything tasted like a 5 star restaurant on The Strip. The pork belly was my favorite dish, you have to try it! I've not worked with any of the other caterers in Las Vegas, so I can't say if Worry Free Catering is the best or not, but they certainly get my recommendation." Those who want to know where their offices are located can check their Google Maps page at <https://goo.gl/maps/cNq8gRbTu9P2>.

Another customer, Gerald D., also gave the catering business five stars and said, "I heard about Worry Free Catering from a friend of mine that lives in Henderson, after I spent a couple of hours searching through the various caterers in Las Vegas and couldn't find one that I liked. [?] I was looking for a wedding caterer though, so I was still pretty hesitant. I decided to call and get a feel for the company. Talking with their chef made me feel really good about my decision. He told me they specialize in wedding catering services and that they would be a good fit. I ended up hiring them for my wedding here on the Strip and it was great. Many of my friends complimented us on the food and the service. Thanks Worry Free Catering for making my event turn out a success.?

Obviously, one of their most popular catering services is the wedding service. A wedding is usually a once in a lifetime experience and therefore couples would really like to carefully plan everything to make it a success. When it comes to the reception, hiring Worry Free Catering will allow the bride and groom to have peace of mind in knowing that the food will be handled safely. In contrast, having a friend or relative prepare the food for the wedding entails a lot of risks. Furthermore, because a professional chef will be in charge, there will be more choices of food for wedding guests. And best of all, the bride and groom are assured that the food that will served to wedding guests will be delicious and of high quality. And finally, the couple can also request for a custom menu if they and their guests have certain preferences.

Worry Free Catering works hard to be the best catering company in Las Vegas. Their head chef is professionally trained and has already won awards in Nevada. Those who need more information about their services can check their website or their Facebook page.
