February 06, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Calexico Home Protection Pros has announced that they have expanded their service offerings in the Calexico, California area. The company provides home security and safety services for homes and small business owners around the area.

More information on the offerings of the company can be seen at <https://calexicohomeprotectionpros.business.site/>. A representative for the company says, "Home security is the most important aspect of owning a home. Homeowners need to keep their property, and more importantly their families, safe from break-ins, fire and other issues. We can help with that."

The company says that buying a home is an investment and should be viewed as one. The company representative states that with any investment, a certain level of security should be evident. He says that a homeowner who does not invest in a home security system is neglecting to take care of their investment, and today's home security options are designed to provide the best in safety for properties and their inhabitants.

"Whether a young couple needs cameras installed to check in on a babysitter or parents of teenagers want to make sure that they are not sneaking out of the house, a home security system with indoor cameras is a must for protecting today's families," says the company representative. The company states that they offer a wide range of home security supplies and options, all of which can be seen by visiting them online at <https://goo.gl/maps/tjvBQkkBMPU2>.

The company says that residential video cameras can help in a number of ways. Those who have their elderly parents or grandparents living with them can ensure that their family members are safe and being properly cared for by caretakers. Those who have dementia or Alzheimer's disease can be kept safe when family members have cameras installed to watch them throughout the home. The company says that while most homeowners assume that video cameras and installation are expensive, the opposite is actually true. They state that these cameras are very affordable today.

The same goes for hardware to protect doors and windows from entry. The company spokesperson says that with crime rates today at an all-time high, particularly in larger cities, homeowners should consider protecting doors and windows in their homes as important as having a bathroom installed. The company states that while some homes on the real estate market may very well have safety locks and other measures in place to protect new homeowners, most of the time standard locks have been installed. Standard locks are not likely to stop someone who aims to enter a home illegally. The company states that homeowners who do not have certain security measures in place should consider them no rather than after the fact.

Authorities report that break-ins today are happening at an alarming rate. Calexico Home Protection Pros says that when protection alarms are installed, doors and windows are fitted with sensors that will sound whenever the door or window is opened, alerting homeowners in the event that someone is trying to break into their homes. The company also offers protection bars for windows and doors in a range of styles that they state will go perfectly with home designs today.

The company states that they can also subcontract home security systems to top home security companies such as ADT or Verge. These companies can install and keep track of the systems via subscription. When alarms are sounded on a home, the subscription companies will alert the proper authorities, helping to keep homeowners and their families safe.
