February 05, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Dependable Homebuyers helps owners in the Fort Myers area avoid all the hassles that come along with selling a house, offering them a new way to put their property on the market. Dependable Homebuyers buys houses in Fort Myers so their clients don't have to go through the lengthy processes that are involved with hiring a real estate agent, or go through the time-consuming struggle of putting their own house up for sale.

The company acknowledges that news about the housing market in 2018 wasn't always positive. This led to many people being afraid to buy or sell their homes in the past year. While this lag in the housing market is influenced by many factors, the increase of mortgage interest rates in 2018 was a large part of why the real estate market was not at its peak. In the past weeks, however, the market has experienced a stabilization in interest rates. Dependable Homebuyers wants homeowners to know that many are predicting a boom in the housing market in 2019 due to this leveling off of mortgage interest rates. This makes it a perfect time for owners to contact Dependable Homebuyers about selling their home.

Many are hesitant to put their house on the market because they don't want to deal with the expense and inconvenience of needed renovations and repairs on their property prior to sale or appraisal by potential buyers. Fortunately for them, Dependable Homebuyers takes care of the reparation and cleaning costs. The company buys houses as is; all the owner has to worry about is considering the offer that Dependable Homebuyers makes. This includes houses and properties that are damaged by severe weather, properties that are uninhabited, and even hoarder homes—a trait that has caused the company to make recent real estate news. “I inherited a house that had been vacant for ten years. My husband and I didn’t know where to start with the renovations, and the real estate agent we hired refused to show the property until repairs were made,” said former homeowner Rick L. “Dependable Homebuyers allowed us to get rid of the house in two weeks and we didn’t have to do a thing.”

Visitors to the company’s website may see how Dependable Homebuyers’ process is possible by selecting the “How It Works” tab. This tab contains a detailed outline of the entire selling process, including an informative video that homeowners can watch. If a property meets the company’s buying criteria, they will reach out to the owner with a written, no-obligation offer on the property. If it is accepted, the company will close the deal at a local title company, and the former homeowner will have the cash for their property in as little as seven days after that. They don’t have to hire a real estate agent, clean and stage their house, or vacate their current home every time there is a showing. The extremely quick process, and the fact that there are no outside fees, makes this a modern selling solution for many homeowners.

Those who wish to begin the selling process with Dependable Homebuyers may visit <https://florida-fort-myers.firebaseio.com/> and fill out the simple form included. All that is needed to start working with the company is the home address, owner’s phone number, and their email address, and Dependable Homebuyers will make an offer on the property within 24 hours. The offer is guaranteed, and the seller can have the check in their hand in as little as two weeks, no matter what condition the home is in. This extremely fast sell rate can help their clients avoid foreclosure, swiftly get rid of an unwanted property that they have inherited, or sell a house that remained stagnant in the slow 2018 housing market.

Homeowners looking to sell their homes may contact Even Roberts of Dependable Homebuyers for further information. They may also visit the company’s main website and select the “Contact” tab, which contains a link to Google Maps with their business location, as well as business hours, their phone number, and email. It also contains a contact form that homeowners can fill out with their home address, phone number, and email address. Dependable Homebuyers is happy to speak immediately with potential clients over the phone, as well as in person on location, but will respond quickly to emails once the contact form is filled out.
