March 11, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

El Monte Home Protection Pros has announced that they are expanding their services. The company offers home security systems for those in and around the El Monte, California area.

The company website, which can be seen at <https://elmontehomeprotectionpros.business.site>, offers a detailed look at the home security systems that they offer. A representative for the company states that they are pleased to now be providing security for homeowners in the El Monte region.

"Home protection is a must in today's society," says the company spokesperson. "Homeowners have to take the initiative to secure their homes. Unfortunately, simple locks are no longer doing the job. In order to fully protect a home today, cameras, sensors and other system fundamentals must be in place."

Home security systems have changed drastically over the years as new technology has been introduced. Today's systems range from simple indoor wireless cameras to outdoor cameras and sensors that can be installed on windows and doors to alert homeowners or authorities of someone passing through those barriers. Sensors are typically monitored by a subscription service that receives the notification and contacts the authorities on the behalf of homeowners.

"There are many ways to protect one's property," says the spokesperson for El Monte Home Protection Pros. "This protection is crucial in keeping one's family safe and property safe from vandalism, theft and other issues."

The company states that they are now providing this protection to those in the El Monte area. More about their specific service areas can be seen at <https://goo.gl/maps/W4qrHSM5pGF2>. Statistically, crime rates, including theft of homes, is on an increase. Homeowners today are urged by even their home insurance companies to have some sort of system in place that will help to deter thieves and other criminals from entering their properties. Many home insurance providers offer steep discounts on policy charges for homeowners that do have these systems in place.

El Monte Home Protection Pros says that not only can a home security system help to lower the cost of homeowner's insurance coverage, it can help to save a life. The company states that break-ins occur at an alarming rate in the United States today. Studies show that a home is broken into every few seconds and that thousands of dollars in damages are reported for each home invasion on average. This is not counting the number of homeowners or their family members who are harmed or killed by the invader. The company states that any homeowner who does not have security measures in place to protect against home invasions is simply biding their time until the inevitable happens. California has one of the highest crime rates per state in the nation, and one of the largest state populations.

The company urges those who have yet to consult with a home security specialist to contact them to further discuss their needs. El Monte Home Protection Pros states that they will sit down with homeowners to get a better idea of what they need with regards to home protection. The company states that they work with homeowners on an individual basis, designing their system to the specific needs of each client. This ensures that each homeowner gets the specific sensors or cameras needed, without wasting time and money installing things that they will not use.

El Monte Home Protection Pros states that their goal is to ensure that every home in their service area is protected from crime and other issues. The company states that anyone who has questions or who has not yet chosen a home security system can visit them on their press page at <https://www.pressadvantage.com/organization/el-monte-home-protection-pros> to learn more about their company and the services that they provide. Those interested can also contact the company directly by phone or by email to schedule a consultation for their home security needs.
