The Texas Mortgage Pros has announced the opening of a new location. Their new office is located on East Lamar Boulevard in Arlington, Texas. To coincide with their new location, the company also announced a new merger with Prodigy Lending. They state that this new partnership, along with their new Arlington location, will enable them to assist many more clients with their financial needs.

Jason Turner, a representative for the company says, "We strive to provide the best in tools and resources for those who are currently interested in the real estate market. We believe that our new local location combined with our new company merger will enable us to offer Arlington residents and those who are looking to relocate to the area with the best in resources for all of their home buying needs."

Turner states that the company believes in establishing and maintaining relationships with local customers. He says that while the company offers a number of different locations throughout the state of Texas, they feel that localized offices provide a better means of contact for those looking at buying real estate in each area. He continues to add that this not only helps local customers but helps them to add to the local economy, as well.

"Arlington is a beautiful place to live," Turner says. "The area, its amenities and its general landscape are just a few of the reasons that we chose this area for our new office opening. We want to connect with those in the area and let them know about the wide range of options that we currently have available. We work with a number of government, as well as local and national organizations to help put clients into the homes of their dreams."

Turner states that the company is looking forward to assisting local residents with their needs regarding Arlington home loans. He states that the company believes in a personal approach to financial solutions. As such, the company works with each client on an individual basis, helping them to better understand the home buying process and ensuring that they get the specific tools and resources that best fit their individual needs.

Turner states that the company does not believe in a "one size fits all" approach to buying a home. He states that just as each person is individual and different from others, each home buying process is also different. He says that customers can contact the company to schedule a consultation, where a seasoned and experienced representative will work with them to help them to determine the very best financial tools for their individual needs.

He states that one way that the company plans to develop relationships with local customers is by offering personalized services, as well as opening various local offices throughout the state of Texas. He continues to add that their new Arlington location is easy to access from anywhere in the area and says that anyone who needs directions to the new location can find them online.

The company's official website offers a map and driving directions to their new locations in Arlington, Dallas, Fort Worth and various other areas in the state. Turner says that they highly recommend that anyone who is interested in the real estate market in the area visit them online and learn more about the programs that they offer and the resources that are available for those in the area.

The mortgage lenders in Arlington Texas offer much more information on their website about the home buying process as well as other financial tools for consumers. Turner states that anyone who is ready to take the next step in the process can visit them online to get directions to their office, or use the contact information on their website to reach out to them via phone or email. He states that an initial consultation will be scheduled at the consumer's convenience and that those who simply have questions are welcome to contact the company to have those questions answered.
