February 14, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

The Net Lender in Sacramento, California has announced that they are receiving proof that they have helped multiple families in Sacramento. The company has main offices in Sacramento, as well as in Los Angeles and San Diego. They offer a full range of financial solutions for families in crisis and state that they have received numerous reviews from some of those families outlining the assistance offered and how that assistance has helped families through their financial struggles.

A complete list of the services provided by TNL and their service locations can be found at <https://www.thenetlender.com/locations/car-title-loans-sacramento-10th-st/>. The company states that given current economic problems in California, and around the nation, they are pleased to be able to help soften the financial burden for their customers. One customer claims that the company provided a much needed solution to his financial problems. The customer states that the company "Walked me through the method with ease."

A representative for the financial services company says, "We are always here to offer our full range of resources to help those in need. Whatever the issue, we are confident that we can find a solution for families in Sacramento and in other locations throughout California, as well."

The company states that multiple Sacramento customers have come forth with positive reviews, stating that they offered them a solution for their financial woes when no other could be found. Customers state that the company offers a seamless process and that they provide more financial solutions than similar companies in the region.

The Net Lender was also recently mentioned in an article from the Chicago Tribune, outlining how they offer assistance in and around the Chicagoland area and highlighting some of those services for families in need. The company representative states that given the current economic situation, particularly in states like California where cost of living is higher than other areas and jobs are harder to find, they are pleased to be able to help families to overcome these financial worries.

?Recessions are rarely ever something that a family can prepare for,? says the representative from TNL. ?We are here to help. Whether someone has lost a job recently or is simply struggling through this economic crisis, we are here with our full range of services and resources to help families in and around Sacramento and other areas of the state.?

TNL states that in light of the recent government shutdown, which pushed more than 800,000 federal workers out of a job for weeks, they have seen a number of families struggling to make ends meet. While the government is now back to work full time, going without a paycheck, even one paycheck, could mean trouble for families who live paycheck to paycheck to begin with. The company states that their goal is and has always been to help these families through their financial difficulties.

The representative for The Net Lender adds that reviews from satisfied customers continue to come in to their office on a daily basis. He states that the company has been pleased to be able to help families to deal with the government shutdown, corporate lay-offs and various other financial difficulties. The company operates from a number of locations throughout California and recently announced new office openings in the state. They claim that they will soon have a location for every customer who needs it, and they urge those in need to also visit them on their official company website where a complete list of their service offerings and resources can be found.

Those in Sacramento who are interested in learning more about what The Net Lender is doing to assist families in the area can visit them on their Press Advantage news page to learn more. The company states that customers can fill out an online form for more information or an application on their website. The company can also be reached for questions through email or by phone.
