Ontario Home Protection Pros, an Ontario, California based home protection services provider, is pleased to announce they are expanding the number of home security services they offer in their service coverage area. This was done to better meet the security needs and services of their many customers by offering new and improved security services to go along with their already proven security methods. A list of these new services can be found on their website at <https://ontariohomeprotectionpros.business.site>.

It's all part of the company's plan to be able to better create specific security services that are tailored made for each customer's individual security concerns. A company spokesperson admitted that this is always a challenge to do and now they have the means to do it better than ever before.

The spokesperson elaborated further as to why it's important to customize a customer's individual security package. They said, "For years now many security companies have viewed the security services that they offer as a one size fits all type of security solution. We have learned over the years that's hardly the case. Different areas and customers experience different threat levels and that's why customers need security packages designed for them that address their specific security concerns. Our new expanded list of security services gives us the ability to create custom security packages that greatly increases each individual customer's protection based on their specific home security situation."

This company offers a large variety of different security services to its customers in Ontario and the surrounding area. Both their website and their media room located at <https://www.pressadvantage.com/organization/ontario-home-protection-pros> will tell someone more about the security services that Ontario Home Protection Pros has to offer. There is also contact information found at both of these websites and links to contact them by phone and through their quick return messaging service.

One of the company's signature services that they offer is their free of charge home security reviews.

Ontario Home Protection Pros will send an experienced security tech to someone's home to take a look at their present home security situation. That well-trained security tech will then sit down with that customer and give them an honest evaluation of the job their current home security systems are doing at protecting them. If the customer then decides they need better security measures these can be discussed at this time also. These security reviews are also exactly what Ontario Home Protection Pros need in order to tailor a custom security plan for an individual customer.

Other home protection services that they offer include their interactive home security. This is tamper-proof technology that allows the company to monitor a customer's home 24-hours a day using such security devices as motion sensors and strategically placed video surveillance cameras. These special surveillance camera's feature pan/tilt and night-vision technology.

One of the newest security features this company is offering is its home security app. It enables their customers to monitor their individual home security situation from wherever they are. As long as they have internet access they can monitor their home from the pizza place down the street or even from a different country. A customer can also arm or disarm their home security system from a remote location with the app too. The app is free to Ontario Home Protection Pros customers who have premium service plans established with them.

The company also gives out free quotes to potential customers for any of the security services that they offer.
