Consumers Can Now Access New Home Searches At Builder Hot Spots

February 20, 2019

February 20, 2019 -
Builder Hot Spots a company based in Texas, has announced a new online portal where consumers can access a number of homes for sale. The company states that those who are interested can visit them online at https://builderhotspots.business.site for the ability to search for new homes in the Dallas Fort Worth area.

The Plano, Texas based company states that they offer a wide range of homes on their portal, of all sizes and in a number of different communities. Cat Nguyen, a representative for the company says, ?Those who are looking for a home in the area can access thousands of new home images, floor plans and even different communities. This will help home buyers to find the home of their dreams and get a better idea of what is available before they actually start viewing homes in person.?

The website offers a look at various homes and lists their features and amenities, as well as their location. Community information is also provided with home site information for those who are looking to build their own home from the ground up. Nguyen says that the company?s goal is to help consumers to find the home or home site of their dreams.

?Buying a new home can be a difficult process,? says Nguyen. ?The process begins with finding a home and that alone can be difficult. There are so many things to consider, so many homes to view that it can literally take hours out of someone?s life just looking at them all. With our online portal, people can view homes or sites for a newly built home and get a general idea of the features and advantages without actually having to go to the home to view it.?

Nguyen states that this process makes it easier for those looking to purchase a home because they can find the home or homes that they like and then visit them in person, instead of visiting multiple homes in person, which can take days. The website offers a number of images of each home along with a detailed description of the number of bedrooms and bathrooms, features that each home may include such as an open floor plan or fireplaces, and other amenities. Community information is also offered about each listing.

The company states that they regularly update their Facebook page with information about new listings in the area, as well. Those who are interested can like the company?s Facebook page at https://www.facebook.com/builderhotspots/ to receive notifications of when new homes or home sites are listed or to connect with others in the area who are also looking to find and purchase a new home. Reviews from others who have used the site can also be seen on their Facebook page.

Nguyen states that the online portal was designed to make the home buying process much easier for families, particularly those who may be located in another state. Relocation can be difficult, particularly when families have to visit the new area before they can even begin their move. The website offers information about homes that allow those who are relocating to pinpoint which homes and communities they prefer so that they can have a plan in place to see those homes when they do visit the area.

The company states that anyone in the Dallas Fort Worth area who is planning to purchase a new home or anyone who may be looking to relocate to the area can use their website to get a better idea of what homes are currently available and filter those homes based on the family?s particular wants and needs. More information about the company itself, including contact information for those who prefer to contact someone directly by phone or email can also be found on the website. Those interested can learn more about the company by visiting their About Me page at https://about.me/builderhotspots or contact the company directly to have their questions answered.

###

For more information about Builder Hot Spots, contact the company here:Builder Hot SpotsBuilder Hot Spots972-515-2111info@builderhotspots.comBuilder Hot Spots6860 Dallas Pkwy Ste 291Plano, TX 75024

Builder Hot Spots

Search for new homes in the Dallas Ft Worth area. View floor plans, interior images, new home communities and new home builders in DFW metroplex!

Website: https://www.builderhotspots.com

Email: info@builderhotspots.com

Phone: 972-515-2111

Builder Hot Spots