High risk auto insurance, or nonstandard auto insurance, is coverage offered to individuals that, according to insurance companies, are at high risk and more likely to have an accident or incur some other damage to their vehicle, and are thus more likely to make a claim. Individuals are deemed high risk due to a number of factors, including a history of reckless driving, previous convictions for driving under the influence of alcohol, traffic tickets, accidents, or a lapse in insurance coverage/non-payment.

High risk insurance is often more expensive than standard insurance, however, Youngs Insurance Brokers? Youngs Insurance Programs provide affordable auto insurance for high risk individuals and allows them to decrease their insurance rates over time. ?One of the results of being a high risk driver is that you face significant insurance premiums.
