LiveEco, an environmentally friendly company, is proud to announce the success of their emoji-themed disposable bags. The emoji gift bags, which can be used to hold birthday party favors, are made out of 10% to 20% recycled materials, allowing LiveEco to reduce their carbon footprint during production. Along with using recycled materials, the company also implements sustainable manufacturing processes and techniques to further limit the amount of waste produced.

Taking it another step further, LiveEco is proud to announce their partnership with a company called CarbonFun that ensures the shipping process of the emoji bags remains carbon neutral. LiveEco isn't the only organisation that can help future generations keep the planet healthy, however. Customers who choose the products created by this company are also doing their part to save the planet; a portion of all LiveEco sales are donated to charities that focus on preserving and healing the environment, such as Rainforest Alliance and Earth Justice.

The emoji-themed bags produced by LiveEco are a popular choice for those planning children's birthday parties, themed parties, or baby showers—as well as those who need bags for craft activities, or for holding incentives or rewards at daycares, camps, or schools. The large bags measure 9" by 12", which makes it easy to fit a variety of party favors, such as candy, snacks, small toys, and prizes inside them.

Fortunately for those who plan to hand out the bags to rambunctious children, the emoji-themed bags produced by LiveEco come with a lifetime "no-rip" guarantee upon purchase. This feature, a product of the extremely durable, environmentally friendly LDPE plastic the emoji bags are manufactured from, allow the product to be listed as "Amazon's Choice" over similar products.

"The bags are attractive, and were the perfect size for our library gift bags," said one customer in a review on Amazon. "They were heavy enough to hold pencils, erasers, candies, ect., without easily tearing. They were a huge hit with the pre-teens that came to the event."

A single purchase of this product yields 40 bright yellow emoji-themed gift bags. The customer can expect each pack of the bags to contain ten bags printed with an image of a smiling face emoji with heart eyes, ten bags printed with a laughing emoji that is crying tears of joy, ten bags printed with an emoji blowing a kiss, and ten bags printed with an emoji that is winking and sticking its tongue out. The variety within the pack allows those receiving the bag to pick which one they like the best, which can be helpful for those who have to interact with stubborn or picky children.

Although four different images of emojis are provided in each party bag pack, every bag is printed with high quality, vivid dyes that allow the image to appear clean and clear. The colorful style of the image printed on each bag goes well with the bright yellow plastic that the bag is made out of. The colors from the bags that will be on display or carried around by those in attendance can bring life to any occasion.

"They were a big hit at my daughter's birthday party. We passed them out as party favors for her pool party and all the kids enjoyed them," reviewed another LiveEco customer. "They were of high quality, and had cute prints on them. We were very impressed, especially when some other reviews on Amazon said similar items from other sellers were of poor quality. Thanks for making a fun and good quality product!"

LiveEco's emoji-themed disposable gift bags have made it to the "Amazon's Choice" list thanks to the durability and overall quality of the product. It is for this reason that the emoji party bags have the most reviews of any similar gift bag product. Out of the plethora of reviews the variety pack of gift bags have, 80% gave five stars, while only 10% of reviewers gave three stars or less. This type of feedback from such a large customer base can only be generated by selling a quality product.

For those looking for party, craft, or birthday supplies, LiveEco's emoji bags are fun, durable, and a great size to hold party favors. Those looking to get in touch with the company may contact Christina Abels of LiveEco, or visit their website.
