San Antonio, TX - The real estate market in San Antonio has been in a huge slump. Rather than being a sellers' market, it has become a buyers' market. They are becoming difficult to sell if they are not in great shape and those homeowners that are able to sell their property are being forced to take offers for far less than they hoped.

Despite the decrease in the market, Dependable Homebuyers is still making reasonable cash offers on homes in the San Antonio area. Evan Roberts, with Dependable Homebuyers stated, "We realize that the real estate market is in a cooling phase that has changed the real estate market greatly. There has been a decrease in the demand for homes and it has made it virtually impossible to sell a home that is not in good shape. If you are looking to sell your home quickly, we are certainly ready to make you a cash offer.?

He also points out that the overall process of selling a home can take weeks or even months to complete. Depending on the situation, everyone may not have that much time to get their home sold.
