California Tree Service Company Warns Consumers About Tree Removals

February 26, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Hayward Tree Leaders, a tree service company based in Hayward, California, recently warned consumers about the dangers of tree removals. The company states that tree removal is a service that is best left to professionals for safety purposes and to gain the best results.

A representative for the company says, "Tree removal can be a dangerous job. It can be dangerous for people and for property. We always recommend professional removal of trees by a company that has experience and the necessary equipment needed to ensure complete safety throughout the job."

The company states that consumers are likely not to have the knowledge of tree removal to safely get the job done. Heavy branches or trees can fall, which could cause injury to anyone standing near them or to property under them. The company adds that a professional with experience and knowledge of the proper process for tree removal can help to ensure that no property is damaged, and no one is injured when trees are coming down.

"Felling a tree is a process that takes a bit of knowledge," says the representative for the company.

?Someone who has never cut down a tree may not know precisely which way the tree will fall when it does come down. This poses a serious risk to homes or other property and to anyone who may happen to be near the tree when it falls, particularly including the person who is doing the cutting.?

The company says that more on the risks associated with tree removal can be seen at <https://goo.gl/maps/bR1vGmMGuMN2>. A recent study done by the Tree Care Industry Association shows that nearly 600 people were fatally injured in the United States removing or trimming trees between 2009 and 2015. The study further shows that emergency room visits accounted for more than 100,000 patients between 2009 and 2013 from injuries sustained when cutting down or trimming trees. Chainsaws are commonly used in tree removals and consumers who have little to no knowledge of how to properly and safely use a chainsaw are at risk for injuries, often severe or fatal injuries, simply because they do not know how to avoid such instances.

The company says that they always urge their customers to contact a professional when they need a tree removed or larger branches trimmed to keep these numbers down. The company currently provides a wide range of tree services from trimming and pruning to complete removals, all done by professionals with experience. The company representative says that this is the only way to ensure complete safety.

Certain professional grade equipment is also necessary for these jobs, particularly for removing larger trees or branches that cannot easily be reached from the ground. The company adds that a professional service will have the needed equipment to easily and safely remove trees and branches without worries of damage done or injuries incurred.

The tree service company adds that customers in the Hayward, California area and surrounding locations can visit them at <https://goo.gl/posts/MjB6V6fy6zJ2> to learn more. Those who are interested can also contact the company through their website or via phone or email to schedule a consultation or a quote for having their tree services completed. They state that they will provide a quote to customers based on their needs and say that they work with all of their customers to ensure that all safety precautions are taken and that the customer's specific budget and scheduling needs are met.

Falling trees and branches account for millions of dollars in damage to homes, power lines and other property in the United States every year. The Hayward, California based tree service company urges those in need of tree removals or pruning to contact them as opposed to attempting to perform these tasks themselves. They state that their fees are designed to be budget friendly and to help consumers to make the right choice of contacting a professional for these risky tree services.
