California Company Urges Consumers To Seek Professional Tree Removal Service

February 26, 2019

February 26, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Daly City Tree Leaders is a professional tree service company based in Daly City, California. The company recently commented on the number of injuries and deaths that occur in the United States every year as a result of consumer related tree removals.

Emma Duncan, a representative for the company says, "Tree removal is a service that is best left to the professionals for safety and best results. It can be a dangerous job for both people and property."

The United States Bureau of Labor and Statistics estimates that there are around 200 fatal injuries in the United States every year as the direct result of tree removals. While these numbers also include professional loggers, Duncan says that a large number of these fatalities includes consumers who simply do not know how to safely remove trees but try it anyway.

"There are so many injuries every year in the United States by consumers who try to cut down their own trees," says Duncan. "More than 100,000 injuries were reported between 2009 and 2015 alone from people who cut themselves or someone else with a chainsaw. Add to that the number of deaths related to tree trimming and removal and you see why this has become such a widespread problem.?

Duncan says that those who are interested can learn more about the company's services and service areas online at <https://goo.gl/maps/eqzGQxhTtvC2>. She adds that until consumers learn how dangerous it is to attempt their own tree removal, the numbers in the current statistics are likely to grow. She urges those who have considered removing their own trees to instead reach out to a professional and licensed company for these tasks.

Duncan continues to add that while consumers think that they can save money by cutting down trees themselves, they have to consider the bigger picture. Medical costs account for millions of dollars every year in the United States as a result of injuries related to tree removals. Property costs are about the same for properties that are damaged by falling trees. Duncan says that unless a consumer is experienced in removing trees, they simply cannot know how that tree will fall. Falling trees can cause significant damage to homes, cars, power lines and other property, and Duncan states that these costs can be outrageous when compared to the cost of having trees removed by a professional.

Duncan states that the company always urges consumers to contact them with any issues that they are having, whether it be tree removals or simple pruning. She states that there is certain safety equipment that is used by professionals for tree services, equipment that consumers are not likely to have on hand.

Experts agree that certain tools, such as safety harnesses and others are vital in the safe removal of trees or large branches. Since consumers typically do not own these products, the company urges consumers in the area to call on them to ensure that their trees are serviced properly and that they are serviced without any damage to property or injury to family members.

Duncan states that aside from the obvious risks of damage or injury during tree removals and pruning, consumers have to think of the health of their trees. Trees that are not properly pruned could be seriously damaged, which could lead to the death of the tree or branches that may die out and fall off. Duncan adds that tree service is something that is better left to professionals all the way around. She states that the company offers affordable professional tree service for area consumers and urges those consumers to contact them with any questions or to receive a quote for the services that they need.
