When purchasing products online, it can be difficult to get ahold of customer support to answer questions or assist when there is an issue, which can be frustrating for the customer. A family-owned company called EcoElectronix is changing the reputation customer service representatives have by providing a response to their customers in 24-hours or less.

EcoElectronix specializes in the eco-friendly production of office and desk supplies such as their EX-25 electric stapler and EX-20 electric pencil sharpener. Seth Allen, the family-owner of EcoElectronix shares their goal with the company. "Our main goal is to provide shoppers with stylish and sustainable eco-friendly office supplies and make shopping an enjoyable and rewarding experience for our customers."

Seth added, "One of the ways that we are making shopping enjoyable is by responding to our customers within 24-hours or less. Whether it's product related, or about the environmental charities we donate to, we are always enthusiastic to hear from our customers and respond efficiently."

Customers are enjoying the companies quick response time and product features, as stated in one of their many 5-star reviews. ?I just ordered my electric stapler. It came in one day and was exactly as described. I have registered it and got immediate feedback on my Lifetime Replacement Warranty. It doesn't get any better than that. I wanted to be able to plug it in rather than be replacing batteries and this item gives me both options. Some other great features are the long electrical cord, and the ability to adjust how far down the page you want it to place the staple. I think I got the best electric stapler for the price.?

When asked for more information regarding the company's contribution to environmental charities the company owner comments, ?A big part of our company culture is founded on the belief that success is measured in the number of positive impacts we have on our customers and the world we live in. We responsibility created our professional EcoElectronix staplers with impact-resistant ABS material and sustainable environment-friendly manufacturing practices. We also happily donate a portion of sales to environmental charities including, Rainforest Alliance and Earthjustice, because a better world benefits everyone.?
