Bethany, Oklahoma - March 04, 2019 -
Bethany Tree Pros is a tree care service provider that delivers a variety of tree care services to the residents of Oklahoma City. The company operates in the Bethany area, backed by years of experience and a history of high customer satisfaction.

The company offers free estimates for its expert arborist services, which include include tree trimming, tree removal, storm clean up, lot clearing, debris removal, and emergency tree services. ?Trees can improve your area and also make your area a healthier location to live. Bethany Tree Pros can make this a truth for you and your household,? the company asserts.

Leaving plants in bad shape could potentially increase the risk of bodily harm to the people nearby. Dead branches and fallen or diseased trees, in addition to being unpleasant to look at, pose an actual threat to people, property, and possibly even animals in the area. Dead branches are susceptible to falling, fallen trees create obstacles, and the results are often devastating and very expensive. These issues can be prevented by trimming or outright removing trees before they become an problem.

It is often best to call a professional to deal with plants that could potentially pose a threat, since only experienced, qualified personnel are capable of dealing with such issues and ensuring that no further complications occur. ?Tree removal should be left to our professionals due to how dangerous it can be to both people and property,? says Bethany Tree Pros. The Bethany tree service is equipped with all the right equipment as well as years of experience in dealing with trees in the Oklahoma area, with minimal damage done to their clients? property.

The company offers a number of tree care services, one of which is aimed at preparing trees for spring following a harsh winter. Spring is considered a good time to prune out any damage done by the harsh frost of winter as the season gives property owners the opportunity to prepare their yard for summer landscaping by thinning or removing deadwood, and doing away with unwanted bits of landscaping. This helps to avoid potential damage to any new landscaping.

There are a number of steps that can be taken to ensure that trees are healthy after a hard winter. The first of these is simply examining trees for damage. Conducting examinations allows a professional to identify any damage done, both by the cold of winter and by recent pest activity. In case of a dry spring season, plant owners are advised to water their trees and shrubs whenever necessary and to add fertilization of trees and shrubs to their annual routine. Certain trees cannot be treated with herbicides, and plant owners are advised to follow be careful when using such products. Lastly, plant owners are advised to weed beds, trim perennial plants, and trim flowering shrubs when appropriate.

?Trees are valuable to lots of communities. Some have been located in the exact same area for years and provide an abundance of advantages,? says Bethany Tree Pros. ?Whether these advantages are fruits, shade, or anything else, they need to all be cherished. You might know of certain types of these ancient trees that have actually been in your hometown for years. The truth is, these trees ought to be protected to the fullest degree. And unfortunately, aging, severe weather conditions, decay, and other situations can sometimes trigger these old trees to end up being damaged, requiring restoration.?

The company has received a number of positive reviews from satisfied customers, one of whom had this glowing review to share: ?These guys are great. Came out for some trimming and to remove a large tree. They were done before I knew it and cleaned up well. I will recommend them to everyone. Extremely professional.?

Another customer stated, ?The team at Bethany Tree Pros did a great job removing some large trees from our lot. Price was reasonable as well. Nice work.?

Years of experience, a commitment to providing good service, and access to all the right equipment make Bethany Tree Pros a trustworthy service to contact when in need of assistance with plants of any kind, especially trees.
